Mr. Bob Taylor's third period Freshman English class experienced an overcrowding problem for the first few days of school in this class of 80 students.

Horizon Endures Past

Though Horizon High School has existed only a mere four years, it has already distinguished itself as a school with academic, athletic, and artistic excellence. This reputation has been derived over the past four years through dedication, persistence, and overall hard work by the administration, faculty, and students.

When Horizon High School first opened in 1980, there were many problems that had to be dealt with. The building was incomplete and supplies were limited. There was no carpeting or ceiling tiles, and for a few days the building was without plumbing and air conditioning. Electrical problems continued and caused frequent false fire alarms during most of the first semester. The students had to live without such conveniences as a media center, cafeteria, and other, more spacious, buildings. School opened without enough desks and equipment such as typewriters, which were late in arriving. Everybody had to have patience and wait for things to get settled. Even though every year has its problems, the first year seems to have had the most.

Four years later, Horizon is not without beginning of the year problems. The biggest problem faced in 1983 was overcrowding. With a Freshman class of over 600 people, the assemblies were packed, forcing many students to sit on the floor. These large numbers of people also caused larger classes, scheduling problems, a need for more teachers, and a need for many teachers to share classrooms. This large group, however, works as an advantage, giving the school more spirit and a greater variety of people.

As the Class of 1984 graduates, it will be remembered as the last of the originals. The Seniors are the first class to complete all four years, from Freshman to Senior, here at Horizon. In the past, the graduating classes had to attend Paradise Valley High School.

The class of 1984 leaves behind the many traditions that it has helped start. Everything that remains is from hard work and constant dedication. It is with pride that it can be said . . . IT ALL BEGINS WITH US.

Many Traditions Remain

While some things have changed over the years, many have stayed the same. Every morning, 180 days a year, over 2,000 students come to school. Some walk, some drive, others ride the bus, and several even ride their bikes.

Physically, there have been few major changes. Even with the gradual landscaping and the addition of an auditorium, it looks basically like it did in the beginning.

Once inside the building, the same old chore of attending class will never change.

There are the same teachers with the addition of a few new ones each year. And of course, Dr. Gleason is always around to keep an eye on everything.

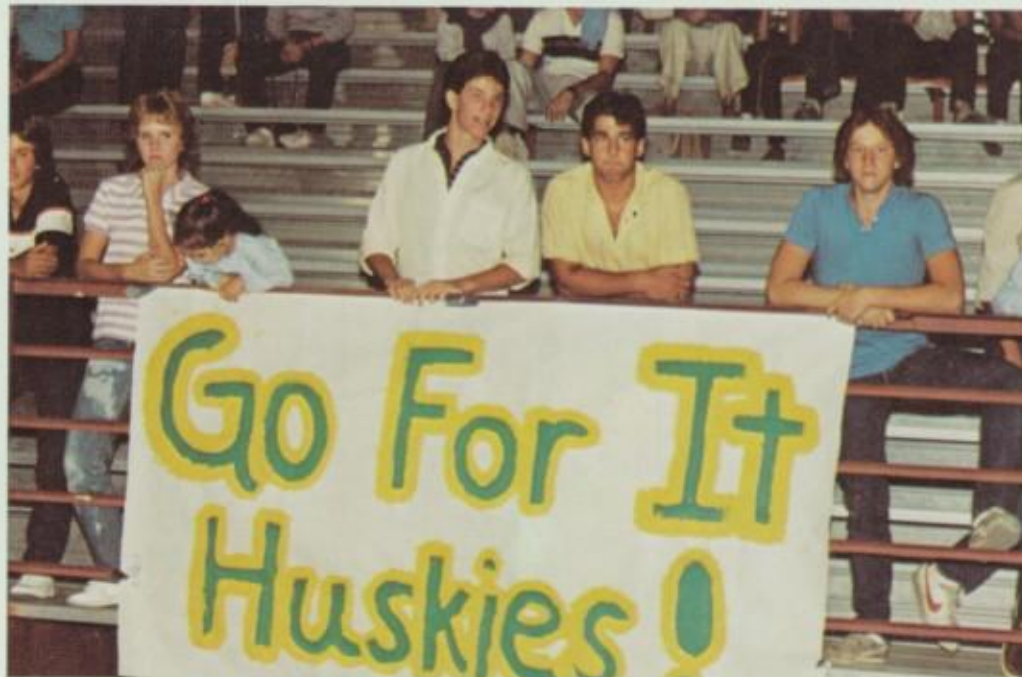

One thing that can always be counted on is sports. Every fall, from the beginning of school until about November, there are the weekly football games.

As you can see, although the school goes through many changes each year, there are several things which will continue for years.

Student Life

Making It Happen

Students walked to classes noticing the familiar halls hadn't changed, yet they bumped into more people and met new faces each day. Every day these faces slowly became more recognizable and seemed more a part of the total picture.

Although the job of students remained education and going to classes, often throughout the weeks they could switch gears and think about events that added a bit of life to school: dates for Homecoming, rides to games, parties on Friday nights, occasional ski trips, and even those occasional interesting homework projects.

With participation in extra-curricular activities their lives changed in small ways and they grew in social relationships and personal skills.

As we relive the social activities that have become traditions, we realize that we are an important part in the making of these traditions. The students are the ones ... MAKING IT HAPPEN!

Summer Has its Place in High School Life

When a person thinks about a summer vacation he usually thinks about summer jobs, workshops, trips to favorite places, and late night parties. Right? Well, here are a few of those memories that won't easily be forgotten.

Summer activities differ from person to person. Some people love school so much that they spend two months in summer school. Others head out to California to lay around on the beach. Still others work full time, giving up the luxury of those afternoons around the pool.

There are several advantages to summer. It's possible to sleep until noon and not miss anything. It's a good time to recover from last semester's grades. And of course one can not forget about catching up on a favorite soap opera.

Summer is usually a great time for everyone, full of relaxation and fun. Whether it's spent in front of the television or off in some exotic country, it is a major part of the high school life style.

Beginning Once Again

The beginning of school means something different to each person. For many it means that graduation is just around the corner. For others it is just something else to add to an already hectic schedule.

When school begins one automatically thinks of rebuilding friendships, new interesting classes, and doing much dreaded homework.

Before students can start school each year several steps must be completed. First a schedule must be made. Once the schedule is correct, paying fee's begins. Book fee's are paid, locker assignments are given, and ID pictures are taken in order to start school on the right foot.

Once school begins, it is easy to distinguish which class a person belongs to. Freshmen are seen tripping over invisible bumps in the carpet. Sophomores are recovering from the previous year, glad not to have the label "Frosh" pinned on them anymore. Juniors try to be cool by telling Freshmen that there is a swimming pool and a sauna on the third floor. Seniors show the Juniors up by not only trying to be cool, and at the beginning of school . . . Everyone goes through it every year, and every year it becomes easier. It is just as necessary graduation.

Homecoming is a Journey Back in Time

"Journey Back In Time" was the theme for Homecoming, November 7th through the 10th. Headed by Erika Carpenter, student council began planning the event during the summer.

Considered by student council as the biggest activity of the year, total costs were approximately $2500.

To promote Homecoming spirit, garters and Homecoming Grams were sold. Letters to graduates were sent out in order to invite the alumni back to celebrate.

Spirit week began with 80's day; many students dressed as punkers, while most dressed as usual in typical 80's style clothes. During lunch, "Jagged Rocks On The Perimeter," a punk band, played for student entertainment.

Tuesday was 60's day. Students dressed as flower children and hippies.

Wednesday was 50's day. Typical 50's attire was worn from the era of leather jackets and poodle skirts. A drag race was held during each lunch. Class representatives pushed VW's of different shapes and sizes around the football field. Seniors took first place during 4th lunch. Juniors and Sophomores tied during 5th lunch. $25 was awarded to the class which took first.

Thursday ended the week with 20's day. Flappers and gangsters could be seen walking around campus throughout the day. A pep assembly was held to prepare for the Homecoming game. 1982 Homecoming Royalty, Gina Roberts and Mark Trafton returned to crown the 1983 King and Queen. At lunch a Goldfish Crackers eating contest was held.

After school the annual parade began at 3:30 at Desert Shadows Middle School. In addition to showing class floats, many clubs showed spirit by being represented in the parade.

The game against Prescott was victorious, Horizon won 27-0. At halftime Royalty was paraded around the field and floats were judged. The Seniors placed first.

The highlight of the week was the Homecoming Dance. The theme was "A Roaring 20's Besides dancing, there was a miniature version of Las Vegas gambling: Roulette, Blackjack, and Craps. Teachers ran the gambling. Instead of winning money, records were given out. The grand prize was a portable radio cassette player.

Seniors Choose Homecoming Royalty

The 1983 Homecoming Royalty was chosen through a long process of nominations. From a list of nominees chosen by teachers, the Seniors voted for five male and five female Seniors to form a group of final nominees to be presented at the homecoming assembly, with the top five couples making up the king, queen, and court.

The 1982 Homecoming king, Mark Traf-ton, and queen, Gina Roberts, both returned to crown the new king and queen during the Homecoming assembly. The 1983 king and queen are John Collins and Kellie Laursen. John participates in Varsity Football and Varsity Wrestling and enjoys weightlifting in his spare time. Kellie is a member of National Honor Society, Pom Line, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and was voted by the Senior Class as most congenial.

Rich Schuman and Kiersten Schmietenknop were chosen as first attendants, Jay Fassbinder and Janet Bryant as second attendants, Todd Parten and Sheila Winchell as third attendants, and Chris Littlefield and Kari Kulvinskaskas as fourth attendants.

As well as being recognized at the assembly, royalty was also recognized at the Homecoming game, being chauffeured in older Thunderbird convertibles around the track at halftime and being introduced by David Bassinger to the crowd.

Adding to the Homecoming festivities, the Huskies proved to be too tough for the opposing team, Prescott, during the Homecoming Football game. Once again, running back, Rich Schuman, led the Huskies to a victory with three touchdown runs and a touchdown pass to Mark Aggers. One of Schuman's touchdowns came on a seventy yard run. The defense was also a contributing factor, holding Prescott from scoring any points in the 27-0 victory. Chris Littlefield, Quarterback, attributed the win to the "offensive line and Rich Schuman."

Funds Aid; Support Clubs

One major way most clubs and organizations manage to continue functioning is through the raising of funds and monies to support the group's wants and needs.

Money is also raised to hold various activities. The main organization behind fund-raising is the Student Council.

"It's not too hard to come up with ideas for fund-raisers," stated Mr. Wells, Student Council advisor. He added that the Student Council had never tried to do anything "real unusual."

Byron Auguste, student body president, said, "Some (fund-raisers) are just sitting there waiting to be taken. It's not a matter of originating an idea, it's more like copying an old one."

Besides the Student Council, groups like NHS and DECA also hold different activities to obtain money for support of their operations.

"Candy sales are the easiest and fastest way for any group to make money," stated Auguste. "You can always find a candy company that is willing to have someone else sell their product for a share of the profits."

The Student Council serves to regulate the schedule of the fund-raising activities. For instance, if both HERO and SADD were planning to hold a candy sale, the Student Council schedules them at different times. This eliminates any competition between the two. According to Auguste, "We don't want them destroying each other, because, with both selling the same product neither can make much money."

Fund-raising has never caused much trouble for the student. "The only one (fund-raiser) that the administration wouldn't let us do was bringing a hypnotist into the school," said Mr. Wells. "The principal, the school board, or somebody wouldn't let us do it, for fear someone might be hypnotized."

Double Cost Leads The Fall Play

The fall production of "The Crucible" was double cast due to an excess of students who tried out for the offered parts. Excellent performances were given by sophomore Cheryl Doughty and junior Lisa Keippert as Abigail Williams, the female lead. The performance of Sean Dunn added a touch of comedy to an otherwise serious play. Frank Dalmans, a Belgium exchange student, gave a superb performance as Thomas Putman. The most memorable role in the play was that of John Proctor, played by senior Paul Bryant and Chris Callahan.

Cassey Renfro and Brenda King were outstanding in their portrayal of Elizabeth. Chris Danowski, a junior, was in both of the productions and did a great job as the Deputy Governor. The theme of the play was based on the Salem witch hunts. The scenery was done very effective and the stage crew worked without a curtain. Mrs. Fitzpatrick was the sponsor of the play. She also teaches the drama classes. All of her work and all of the actors and people behind the scenes deserve a standing ovation for their superb performance.

Mall Provides Many Hangouts

Paradise Valley Mall provides many of the places that Horizon students go to when they aren't working or doing homework. One place where many students spend time in the mall is Superfun, where they have all the latest video games that many students like to play.

Another place in the mall is the Cinema, which provides a variety of movies that many couples and friends go to see on the weekends. Some students go out for pizza at Peter Piper even after the football season is over. Others go rollerskating at a number of the many different roller rinks in Phoenix.

Those who don't go out on the weekends, or after school, sit back at home and keep themselves occupied with the most popular channel on cable, MTV.

Some of the sports fans of Horizon go to the ASU, Phoenix Suns, or Phoenix Pride games to watch their favorite sport. So as you can see, there are a variety of things that students do to have fun when not in school.

Winter Fun Continues Traditions

Some of the activities that were taking place this winter were Powder Puff Football and the Arizona State Fair Art Festival. Though very different from one another, both were a part of Horizon's precidents.

The State Fair Art Festival began the end of October and ran until the end of November. Both Photography and Art were included. The categories for Photography were Unclassified, Sports, Animals, Portraits, and Landscapes. The categories for Art were Graphic Arts, Pastel, Painting, and Printmaking. Many Honorable Mentions, first, second, and third places were given to students belonging to Horizon.

Powder Puff Football is a football game where the girls play ball and the boys are the cheerleaders and pommies.

It is a contest between the seniors and the juniors. A fun tradition, it usually is scheduled between the end of the football season and the beginning of the new year. This year, it took place on December 12. The seniors have continued the president of "seniors win." New Ideas Create Better Activities

The assemblies and dances were produced and executed by the student council. The assemblies included a variety of skits, such as a poster contest. In the contest four groups of people, one from each grade, participated in creating a sign. The juniors sign was voted the best. There was also a concert by a group called "Free Fare." They played an assortment of popular music from Van Halen, Loverboy, and Duran Duran. In another assembly they had a Hula-Hoop contest among a few teachers.

The three biggest dances were the Homecoming, Christmas, and Valentines dances. KDKB'S, Thunder and Lightning and Paramount, provided a large assortment of music for people to dance to and enjoy. Pictures were also available during all three dances. There was a choice between old fashioned photographs and regular colored ones.

The newest addition to the dances was the casino at the Homecoming dance. It contained games, such as blackjack, and roulette. Prizes could be bought with the chips that were won at the games.

Students Meet Needs With Part-Time Jobs

Many students feel the need to find a part-time job during school. Car payments and insurance, entertainment, and small luxuries must be paid for. Most students are also saving up to go to college. Late nights and long hours can affect the student's school work, but the rewards can be much greater than the disadvantages if the student can keep up with his schoolwork. Working on a job can teach a student responsibility, help in meeting people, and train the student for a better job. Many students at school obtain jobs through school organizations, but the majority of students must go out on their own to meet their needs. These jobs range from remedial labor to office and professional work.

Students Handle Stress of '80s

Crowded streets, strange faces, a lonely empty feeling. There is an alternative ...

Tumbleweed, a shelter for runaways, provides both counseling and temporary shelter to kids between the ages of ten and seventeen. It is a comfortably decorated, two story house which provides meals, shelter, and therapy for a maximum of seven days.

The home is conducted in a "civilized atmosphere" with rules and regulations. The day program consists of three regular home meals, chores, therapy, television, and other activities.

Necessities such as hygiene and clothing are provided and "undisruptive" belongings are allowed.

While staying at Tumbleweed, counseling for both runaway and family is provided for. For the runaway, private and group therapy sessions are held with the child and without. After the child returns home, both programs are continued for as long as necessary.

Tumbleweed's purpose is not that of a hideout, but as a place for troubled kids to get away from the problem and learn to deal with it. After a series of questions, runaways are accepted based on the discretion of the staff. Abused children are referred to the child protection services; those with criminal charges are turned over to the police; most pregnant girls are referred to Florence Critton, a runaway shelter for pregnant teens. Parents are notified within 24 hours of the child's arrival and are asked to cooperate by allowing the child to stay and by participating in the counseling programs.

Students who have problems and would like to talk to peers, have a chance to do so with the Peer Counseling program.

The program started this year. All of the peer counselors received training at ASU in June. To be in the program, they have to be willing to help other people, have above average grades, have the ability to listen, and have to volunteer their free time. The peer counselors usually talk to the people when the student would much rather talk to another teenager, or when the counselors have too much work.

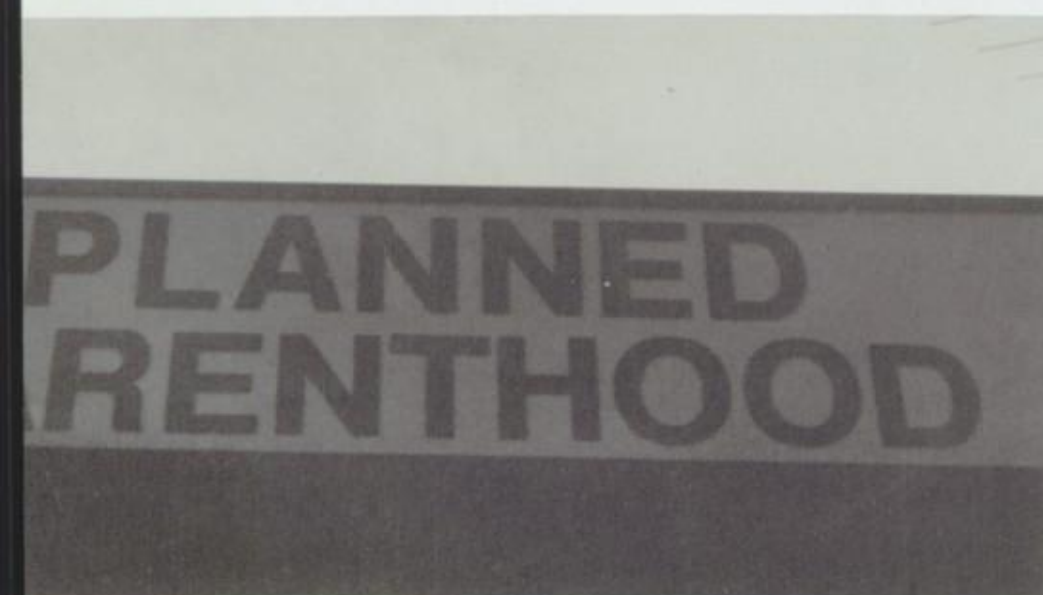

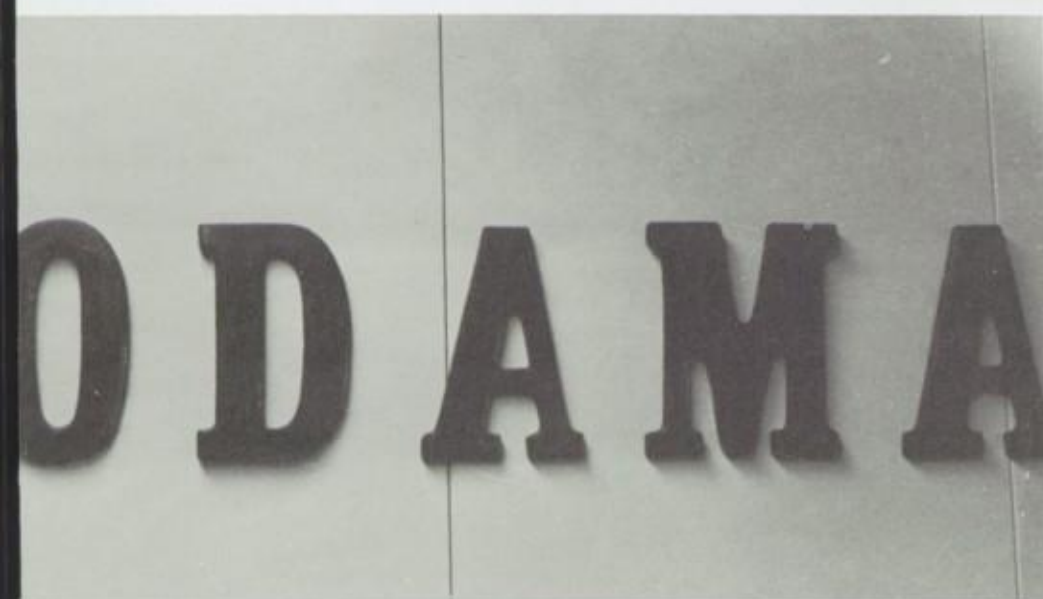

There are seven students involved in this program: Jonathan Reed, Mikael Aramian, Mike Fryar, Mike Belpedio, Michelle Belpedio, Cathy Baker, and Erika Carpenter. They have meetings of the peer counselors every Tuesday.

When Mrs. Jeanne Woodward, the head of the program, feels that a student would like to talk with another person his or her own age, she calls in one of the peer counselors. "It's easier to talk to other teenagers than adults," Mrs. Woodward believes. She feels that it's better for the student to talk to a peer counselor because the adults are ten to twenty years removed. Mrs. Woodward normally refers the student to a peer counselor when the regular counselor can't get through and feels that their peers could.

SADD Works to Help Save Lives

By Joy Airemma

In the last twenty-four months, more than 10,000 teenagers have died in drunk driving accidents. "Drunk drivers are people who made a wrong decision in a possibly fatal situation. Our objective is to turn them around," commented the president of the club, Cathy Baker.

SADD, Students Against Drunk Drivers, is a new club that has been formed at Horizon. The club's motive is to make students aware of the problems involved in drinking and driving. SADD does condone drinking, it however, does not condone driving while intoxicated. Members of the club conduct presentations around the district focusing on junior high and grade school students.

The SADD program also includes a Hot Line which serves the Paradise Valley and Scottsdale area. The line is open from ten p.m. until two a.m. Safe rides are provided for the people that have called for a ride home.

The communication between many teens and parents are improved through a contract that the program has developed. The teenagers vow to call their parents any time they do not have a ride with a sober driver. The parents vow to pick them up, anytime, with no argument.

Horizon is the first school in the Phoenix area to have formed this club. They have established their identity throughout the community; appearing in the Phoenix Gazette and The Arizona Republic. MADD, Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, has also assisted the club in getting started.

Unfortunately, clubs as important as these, are inspired by the many accidents that occur each year. Hopefully, they will assist in lowering the death rate in this fatal area.

Horizon Senior is Remembered

By Mike Barrett

In mid November of 1983, senior, Robert Douglas Vaughn was taken from his family and friends in a tragic automobile accident.

Doug, age 17, was a gifted young man. He was blessed with an unbeatable sense of humor, and the uncanny ability of enlivening depressed friend's spirits with his good nature.

Doug was the type of man who was always there to help a person in need. He was able to make a cloudy day bright again with a smile.

Those who knew Doug will remember him as a happy man who loved his family, friends, and life. He gave happiness, love and unforgettable memories, to every person he knew.

Everyone Doug touched with his smile and quick wit will never forget the happiness and joy he gave to each and everyone of us. His memory will live in the hearts and minds of all who knew him. It will be a sad day if the memory of the gifted young man, Robert Douglas Vaughn, is forgotten.

Horizon Student is Honored

Joe Warren, a senior, received a governors award for his heroic act of saving two people from a crashed airplane. During the summer of 1983, a small aircraft was flying to the Scottsdale Airport when it ran out of fuel. The pilot along with his wife and dog, were forced to make a crash landing on the top of a house.

Joe and his sister, Wendy, heard the crash on the house behind them. While Wendy called the fire department, Joe climbed up to the neighbors roof and assisted the people out of the plane. The owners of the airplane were not harmed except for some cuts.

To honor his valiant act the governor selected Joe to receive the Governor's Award, an award given for citizens that have saved a life, while risking their own life.

Doll Wins Hearts of America

By Darci Craven

The Cabbage Patch kids took America by storm. The adorable little dolls were on every child's Christmas list this year. Each doll is computer designed to be unique. They all come with a birth certificate and adoption papers.

Twenty-six dolls brought $7,507 at a charity auction. On December 10, 1983, it took less than thirty minutes for about 600 bidders at two locations in Arizona to buy twenty-six Cabbage Patch kids. These auctions were held at Long's Drugs benefiting the Phoenix Police Dept. Needy Family Fund, the St. Mary's Food Bank, and the Child Crisis Center. The highest bid on a doll sold that day was $550.

These dolls, which originally sold for $23.38, were selling for over $500 during the Christmas season. These dolls can most definitely be described as 1983's year-end fad.

Innocent Plane Shot From Sky

By Darcy Stefanelli

Tension between the Soviet Union and the United States, reached a frightening peak in the fall of 1983. The shock of a Korean civilian airliner containing American citizens being brutally shot down was devastating to Americans.

On September 3, 1983, at approximately one in the afternoon Pacific Daylight time, Korean Airlines Flight 007 carrying 269 people, including 61 Americans, was blasted out of the sky while flying through soviet airspace. There were no survivors.

After remaining silent for two days, the Soviets claimed the commercial airliner was mistaken for an enemy spy plane, which was in the area at the same time. They admitted firing warning shots and tracer shells, but would not admit shooting it down. They implied that the off-course route was planned in order to accomplish a spy mission.

Despite the many unanswered questions about the incident, the Soviet Union never offered an apology for killing the 269 innocent passengers aboard the plane.

Marines Aid Lebanon Troops

By Steve Hampton

The latter part of October, 1983, proved to be a dramatic time for President Reagan and the United States.

While the military involvement in Lebanon was getting deeper, a tragic event happened that put the pressure on the United States. On October 23, 1983, two massive explosions, coming from suicide missions by terrorists, killed 225 United States Marines and 56 French Paratroopers. For the U.S., the death toll was the largest loss in one day since the Vietnam War.

Despite this loss, the United States military was successful in another venture. On October 27, the U.S. military took over the island of Grenada. President Reagan sent in the Marines and Army to rescue hundreds of Americans from this Cuban-Soviet controlled island. This invasion ended the Cuban presence on Grenada.

After peace was restored to the island, clean-up began and a goal to restore democracy was set by the government.

"The Day After" Shocks U.S.

By Becky Waage and Janine Cannizzaro

America and other western influences are faced with the horror of a nuclear disaster. Many people realized the danger through the tele-drama "The Day After", which aired November 20, 1983.

ABC Motion Picture Studios brought what could be the most important issue of the times right into America's living rooms. "The Day After" is considered the most visually horrifying film on nuclear fallout.

The film takes place in the city of Lawrence, Kansas. It shows what would happen if an actual nuclear war broke out. The population was instantly reduced to vaporized silhouettes. The city was completely wiped-out. The few that remained were put to death by the effects of radiation.

Parental discretion was advised in the viewing of this film because of the realization and possible occurrence of such a disaster.

Goddard Wins Mayoral Election

By Dawn Brown

The "time for a change," attitude seemed to carry Terry Goddard past Pete Dunn in the mayoral election held on November 1, 1983. Goddard, a Democrat, beat Dunn, a former Republican legislator, by a 52 to 48 percent margin in the election.

Goddard's victory over Dunn happened in the very last weeks of the election. It was not until the televised debate, on October 30, 1983, that Goddard gained support from the public. The last of the polls showed that 80% of these who viewed the debate said it influenced them to vote for Goddard.

"Making the city government more accessible to the public by expanding the base of people who influence city council," was Goddard's attitude about the mayor's duties. Goddard's strong criticism of the city's present rule by a powerful few, won the support of many. Goddard built his campaign around a theme of an open, accessible and responsive government.

Goddard's two year term began January 3, 1984, replacing Margaret Hance.

Phelps Dodge Miners Strike

By Darci Craven and Wendy Wenz

Every three years since 1968, copper miners of Arizona's Phelps Dodge Corporation have gone on strike. The dispute was over contract negotiations.

The refusal of union demands made Phelps Dodge risk the possibility of a labor strike. As a result, members of the union went on with the strike which closed down many Arizona mines. Since then, unemployment has risen greatly in the mining towns.

The wage increase of the copper unions have gone from their average 8%, to 3% within the last ten years. The change in pay was due to increased competition. This led to plant shut-down and layoffs of long term union members.

Orioles Shut-Out Phillies 5-0

By Dave Bernstein
and Bill Fusco

The 1983 World Series kicked off on October 11, with two of the most talented teams in baseball. The Baltimore Orioles were the American league Champions, and the National League Champions were the Philadelphia Phillies.

In game one, a tight pitching duel was on hand, but the Phillies edged the Orioles, 2-1, with an eighth inning home run by Garry Maddox.

In game two, rookie pitcher Mike Boddicker, allowed the Phillies only three hits. Mike received the honor of A.L. Championship MVP by striking out 14 batters. Baltimore defeated the Phillies, 4-1.

In game three, the Orioles once again took the Phillies, 3-2. Pete Rose was benched by manager Paul Owens. This 41 year old superstar said he was embarrassed because he had participated in every World Series of his career, except this year.

In game four, a total of 36 players participated in this see-saw battle. The Orioles nipped Philadelphia once more by one run. The final score was 5-4.

Philadelphia's misery came to an end as Baltimore shut them out with a score of 5-0, in the final match.

Rick Dempsey was named most valuable player of the series.

New Sports Teams Started

By Steve Hampton

The Arizona Wranglers and the Phoenix Pride both entered their seasons under new ownership. The "new" Arizona Wranglers are owned by Dr. Edward B. Diethrich, a Phoenix heart surgeon and the founder and director of the Arizona Heart Institute.

The team is coached by George Allen. The new franchise is analyzing deficiencies and improving weak points for the 1984 season. To strengthen those weak areas, the team has added key players, made alterations in staff and administration, and installed a new managing philosophy.

The United States Football League (USFL) team owners feel that the sports fans have accepted spring football, and it is only a matter of time until they are filling the stadiums to near capacity.

During the first season, the games were covered by ABC-TV and ESPN, a cable network. USFL football games rated first of all sporting events carried on cable last year, and ABC-TV was also happy with their results. This television coverage served as an important part of the success of the USFL.

The Phoenix Pride has taken over last year's Phoenix Inferno team with a new owner. The team was sold and organized after the Inferno team went bankrupt. This new indoor soccer team has managed to capture the attention of avid soccer fans and put forth a good season.

Raiders Stun Redskins in 21-6 Super Bowl Victory

By Wendy Wenz

Super Bowl XVII was played by the Los Angeles Raiders and the Washington Redskins on January 22, 1984. Although the Redskins were favored to win, the Raiders began with the first touchdown and went on to win

38-9. The Redskins managed a field goal in the second quarter. The Raiders scored two more times. One of these turned out to be a big play of the game. With seven seconds left in the half, the Raiders intercepted a Redskin pass on the seven yard line and scored by running it in.

The second half started with a Redskin field goal which made the score 21-6. The Raiders allowed the Redskins one more field goal. Then once again the Raiders scored. This time Marcus Allen ran for a 71 yard touchdown. Finally, the Raiders put a cap on it and scored a final field goal, making them the superbowl champions with a score of 38-9.

College Football Bowl Games start out the New Year

By Wendy Wenz

The start of a new year signals the finish of college football. They conclude with the playing of the traditional bowl games.

The Rose Bowl, played in Pasadena, California, matched the UCLA Bruins and the Illinois Illini. UCLA, unranked, yet number one in the Pac Ten Division, stunned viewers on Monday, January 2, 1984. The 103,217 fans were all disappointed by the "mismatch." Even though UCLA was the underdog they still managed to humiliate the Illini by defeating them 45-9.

The Ohio State Buckeyes beat the University of Pittsburg in the Fiesta Bowl, with 39 seconds to go in the game. In Sun Devil stadium, 66,484 fans sat on the edges of their seats during this exciting game.

The quarterback of Ohio State, Mike Romczak, completed a 39 yard touchdown pass to Thad Jemison with less than a minute left. This gave the Buckeyes a dramatic win over Pitt.

Nebraska Cornhuskers lost the Orange Bowl against the Miami Hurricanes. They lost the gamble of getting a two point conversion after a touchdown for the win instead of going for a tie by kicking the extra point. The failure of this play led to their defeat. The final score was 31-30.

In the Sugar Bowl, played in New Orleans, Auburn defeated the Michigan Tigers. They won by the successful field goal kicked with only 32 seconds remaining. They came back to win the game, 9-7.

Finally, the Cotton Bowl was played in Dallas. Through most of this game, the Texas Longhorns looked as if they were off to a perfect, undefeated record for 1983. Their competitors, the Georgia Bulldogs, came back to win it, 10-9. The crucial play was the 17 yard touchdown run by the Georgia quarterback John Bastinger. This defeat ruined Texas' chance of an undefeated season.

Leadership Skills Learned

By Dia Wallace

Arizona Boys' and Girls' State, sponsored by the American Legion, is a citizenship training program to provide students with the knowledge and understanding of governmental process.

This years "honor" positions of attending Girls' State and Boys' State were carefully chosen and awarded to Ruth Fowle, Gretchen Creighton, Paul Balentine, and David Bassinger.

These students learn about government by actually operating it. They elect their own state, county, and city officers. Each student learns for himself the responsibilities as a citizen and that every act of his government has bearing on his own.

Mr. Flint, who is in charge of Boys' State, describes it as "an intensive workshop on Arizona government, from city level to state level; organizing, making laws, and running for political offices."

Paul Balentine, who was a county sheriff and fire chief, said, "I went to Boys' State because I heard it was a fun learning experience. I was taught how Arizona government is run, and how to talk in front of people."

Those selected should have an interest in government and how it operates. Enrollment is limited from two to seven students, therefore any interested students are urged to contact Mrs. Brayer or Mr. Flint and make arrangements in advance.

Four Exchange Students Learn New Customs

By Shelly Otto
Eric Cordas
Steve Hampton
Laura Bennett

Four Foreign Exchange students were among the student body this year. Frank Daelemans was a senior but graduated from Belgium last year. Frank heard about the A.F.S. Foreign Exchange program through a friend in his theater group.

He arrived in Arizona in September, and will return to Belgium in July. Frank is staying with Chris Triplet, a sophomore. Frank says, "If Belgium was closer to Arizona, I would move!" Frank starred in the fall play, "The Crucible" and did an excellent job.

Would you consider someone who puts sugar in their milk as strange? Not if you were from Brazil, like Adriana Barreto.

Adriana is a foreign exchange student from Brazil, who is staying with Janice Mazza. She will be staying until July. When she first came to Arizona, she thought it was easier to adapt than now, because people expect more of her now.

Even though the clothes and people are the same here and in Brazil, their schools are quite different. The school chooses the subjects for you, there were no electives.

Adriana likes Arizona for four reasons: the climate, clean cities, nice people and it's easier to make lots of friends.

Sometimes when cultures clash, problems arise. Such as when Adriana first came to Arizona. It's a custom in Brazil to kiss a friend you meet on the cheek. It is obvious the problems that would arise from kissing a friend of the same sex in the U.S.

When talking to Klaus Gotthardt, one can tell he has much pride in his country of West Germany. He came to the United States to improve his English and learn more about our country, but he also enjoys telling people about his own country. Klaus plans on staying here one year, then returning to Cologne, West Germany.

"I like it very much here, especially the weather. You can play tennis all year round," was Klaus' opinion of Phoenix. In Germany, Klaus played tennis for his school through tournaments. He also proves to be a valuable asset to Horizon's varsity tennis team, as he was a top player on the team.

Because Horizon's quota of foreign students was filled, Klaus attended Paradise Valley High School first semester. He then transferred to Horizon. He finds school here much easier, because in Germany they have more subjects.

Masako Suzuki is from Tokyo, Japan and is currently enrolled as a Junior. She arrived in Phoenix in August of 1983 and will be going back in June of 1984.

Micky learned about the exchange program through a newspaper in Tokyo. The newspaper received applications and those applicants then had to pass an exam to become an exchange student. She has taken grammar classes in Japan and wanted to use those skills. This inspired her to take the test. When she first arrived in Phoenix, she had never conversed in English. Now she feels she is improving.

She explained she could not get over the difference between American High school and her Japan High school. In Japan, Micky was required to take eleven classes, while in America she is taking seven classes.

Over Christmas break her host family took her skiing at Telluride and over spring break they went to Huntington Beach. Before returning to Tokyo, she will be visiting Disneyland with other returning Japanese students.

She enjoyed her stay here in Phoenix and hopes to return in the future.

Prep?

Juniors, Wendy Foltzer and Craig Snyder represent the "preps" of Horizon. They have the characteristics of being neat, well-mannered, and studious. Topsiders, pennyloafers, oxfords, sweaters, vests, and corduroy pants are a part of a traditional prep wardrobe. Many of the students fall into the "prep" category.

On the other hand, another group stands out in the crowd.

Scott Chazan, Kymber Mayberry, and Andy Hurd are known as "punk". Unlike the preps, each one looks different, from their hair to their dress. They enjoy being different from everyone else. "Punks" wear bondage pants, creepers, jean jackets with writing on them, and studded belts. Hair varies in color, from oranges to whites. This proves that Horizon has a variety of fashions.

The majority of the students enjoy "working out" at local health spas, as well as at school. John Walsh, senior, and Beth Spadinger, junior, show us that the weightroom is used by both female and male students.

Let's Get Physical

Physical Fitness is a big part of student life. This craze was encouraged even more by the movie "Flashdance", which starred a dancer determined to prove herself and make it as a professional. Many people exercise to keep fit, to get in shape, or just because they enjoy it. Exercise is made more enjoyable by putting routines to music. This is known as aerobicise and is popular among female students. Some buy records with instructions, some watch programs on it on television, and other make up their own routines to follow.

"Serious Moonlight" Increases Bowie's Popularity

By Michelle Erard

In his first concert in five years, David Bowie returned to the Phoenix coliseum for an exploding performance on August 17, 1983.

Although not sold out, the Coliseum was packed.

There was some question about that, since Bowie sold out practically every place in the world he has played. Apparently, quite a few Phoenix fans thought he would sell out, because Thursday, July 28, when tickets went on sale, lines were forming as early as 7:30 in the morning.

The audience, which ranged from some of the older fans, to the new wave group and punks, went wild as he came out on stage for his first song, "Let's Dance." When he sang "China Girl," dozens of roses were thrown on stage. At one point, he kicked out a big ball with the world on it to his fans. The audience had fun throwing it around during the number.

The first half of the concert he played some of his new music. After intermission he came back on stage with some of his older songs like "Rebels," and "Ashes to Ashes." A few were also from the albums, Diamond Dogs and Scary Monsters.

On the stage there were three column of lights and a big hand pointing to the sky, and a sparkling moon that was suspended in the air. During the song "Space Oddity," he got into the middle of one of the tubes of light and sang about Major Tom.

The match made in heaven, that was separated by an apparent death, was reunited on the popular daytime soap opera, "General Hospital."

Luke and Laura Spencer were brought back together by the strange reappearance of Laura, portrayed by Genie Francis.

Tony Geary, who plays Luke, was up for a new contract this year. He was considering taking a leave of absence to work on movies for television, and return to the show periodically. Francis came back to the show for a special guest appearance. She wanted to make the possible exit of Geary a glamorous one.

"The Police" Arouses Arizona

By Amy Hudgens
and Jennifer Burland

On Thursday, September 8, 1983, the "Police" played at Phoenix Giants Stadium. The Police attracted a rather rowdy crowd consisting of people of all ages and all types.

The sold-out crowd danced to the new music of "Madness and The Thompson Twins." The dancing, screaming, and shouting was minimal compared to the reaction of the fans when "Sting," Andy Summers, and Stewart Copeland appeared on stage.

The Police started off their two hour set with "Synchronicity I". The two large video screens showed off their well arranged stage show. The sound system amplified their new and old, but original music. There was a short intermission with backstage video coverage of the trio's comical personality.

When the band returned to the stage, they proceeded with many older favorites such as, "Don't Stand So Close To Me," "De Do Do Do, De Da Da Da," and many more. The Police ended their set with a tribute to Arizona by singing their version of "Home On The Range."

The clammer of the crowd called the "Police" back for their only encore which was a collaboration of three of their older songs, "Roxanne," "Can't Stand Losing You," and "Regatta de Blanc." It was well worth the $15.00 for the ticket.

Movies Provide Enjoyment

By Wendy Wenz

Movie going students had a wide variety of films to choose from in 1983 and 1984. One of the biggest hit films of the year was "Flashdance." This was a movie that influenced students dress and exercising habits. Jennifer Beales played the part of Alex Owens who was a welder with the dream of being a professional dancer. The viewers were shown her struggle through her extensive practice and night club work. The "over the shoulder" sweatshirt used in the film became a fad during the summer months. Girls would buy sweatshirts and cut out the neck and would have a duplicate of the fashion.

Dramatic films were shown often during the year. "The Big Chill" was a movie about the reunion of five friends for a weekend after the death of the sixth member of the "old gang".

It dealt with the personality changes from college to adulthood. "Terms of Endearment" was about the problems of a mother and daughter relationship between Shirley MacLaine and Debra Winger.

"Silkwood" was about a woman who worked at a nuclear plant. Her main concern was the health of the workers. She tried to bring action against the plant because of the avoided subject of radiation effects.

"Journey" Electrifies Phoenix

by Valerie Kinsella

During July, a record three nights were sold out at the Coliseum. The group that accomplished this was "Journey". The tour they were on was "Frontiers."

Canadian singer Bryan Adams warmed up Veterans Memorial Coliseum as the opening act. Songs of his most recent album, "Cuts like A Knife" were performed. The title track along with Bryan's live version of "Take Me Back." was received with enthusiasm.

After a brief intermission, Journey charged on stage opening with "Chain Reaction." They performed songs from all their previous albums along with the most recent "Frontiers". Guitarist Neal Schon, kept the crowd going with his solo and performance of his hit "No More Lies."

When lead singer, Steve Perry announced the song they were about to do had been written by keyboardist, Jonathan Cain, the crowd went wild. The song was "Faithfully."

Steve Perry sang such ballads as "Send Her My Love" and "Lights." Older favorites were also done.

As a part of the newest concepts in video, a large video screen was used to show close-ups of the group as they performed.

Two encores were performed for the pleasure of the crowd. "Journey" proved, to their fans that they were, indeed, one of rock's hottest groups.

The Impact Club is an affiliate of Future Homemakers of America. They have many purposes. Among their purposes are: helping serve schools and the community, and working on self growth.

Their goals consist of getting students involved in school, and the community, and providing additional practice with home economic skills. Some of the activities they have been involved in were assisting with the Halloween party at Roadrunner Park, making gingerbread houses, getting color draped, and going to several regional and state conventions.

There are ten to fifteen members. The first semester president was Paula Neal and second semester president was Stephanie Brysacz.

Foreign Exchange Students are Helped by AFS

By Andrea Gould

American Field Service (AFS) is a club that supports foreign exchange students. They have chapters in 35 countries with the same goals, to promote understanding between cultures.

Students travel from their country to a country of their choice. They live with a host family for a school year. The members of the AFS club help the foreign student by showing them around, and helping them out financially. AFS chapters also sponsor a trip where students can go visit other states. This takes place during spring break.

Horizon's AFS helps exchange students out by having flower sales and candy sales. Mrs. Brayer sponsors AFS.

Overall, the club is informative for the students who are interested in other cultures and people.

Magazine Made By Students

By Beth Naftali

Literary Magazine is a young organization that was sponsored by Ms. (Mary Ann) Jones and Ms. Spessard.

It was edited by five students (Wes Arnold, Estelle Ferrell, Cindy Roberts, Tom Garrison, and Michelle Belpedio) who also contribute their own writing talents. Their duties include accepting or rejecting copy and page layouts.

The magazine includes essays, poems, and short stories written by students. It took about three months to put together because the students worked on it during lunch and after school and because there was so much turned in. Both Ms. Spessard and Ms. Jones felt the magazine encouraged young writers.

Chess Club Plays Year Round

By Steve Hampton

The Chess Team is an active club all year round participating in tournaments on weekends and practicing during the week.

The team, coached by Mr. Percachilli, was the top team in their region by January, the midpoint in their season. They faced tough competition to retain this spot, including Gilbert and Camelback.

The five Varsity players, ranked respectively, are: Mike Ross, Sophomore; Brian Davis, Sophomore; Chris Triplett, Sophomore; Ed Green, Freshman; and Bart Dogget, Junior. This young team is experienced in the sport of chess, but they improve by playing in the tournaments on Saturdays and facing tough competition.

Rifle Club Improves Shooting

By Beth Naftali

The Horizon Sharpshooters meet on a weekly basis, immediately following school on Tuesdays in room A-216.

Membership is approximately 15 students, led by president, Gordon Schroeder and sponsored by Mr. Holbrook.

The objective of the club is to allow the students to learn how to properly handle firearms and increase their skill and accuracy through practice. Students can practice at Rio Salado or Black Canyon Rifle Ranges, where they shoot under supervision and coaching. Students have an opportunity to compete at various matches, which could lead to state and national competition.

Any student may join who seriously wants to learn or improve shooting skills. Weapons are provided at the Rio Salado range after a small registration fee has been paid. Personal weapons are also permitted at the ranges.

The Scuba Club is an active group that explores all aspects of underwater diving and snorkeling. It is sponsored by Mr. MacCarter, who has started a new class for certified people to dive.

The class met after school, and was very successful. The Scuba Club took all their trips during various holidays, so the students never missed any school.

Their trips included places like the Bahamas, Coronado Island, San Clemente, Catalina and San Carlos Mexico. Some of the kids that were members of the Scuba club go on to become professional teachers of scuba diving in such places as Hawaii. Mr. MacCarter said that everyone always enjoys themselves and has fun.

Ski Club Thrives on Challenge

The Ski Club was sponsored by Ms. McMullen. She has sponsored various ski clubs for the past 9 years, and enjoys the enthusiasm of the students.

Each trip is preceded by ski films, lectures on safety, rules and equipment care. During their first meeting they discussed the five trips they would be taking. The students are usually amateurs although some of the better skiers go also. The members rented their equipment in Phoenix.

This year's trips included Telluride, Sunrise, Purgatory and Lake Tahoe. Forty-three kids were allowed on each trip, half Horizon students and half Shadow Mountain students. This held true on all trips except Purgatory. Eighty-eight positions were open for that trip.

Over all the kids always have fun making friends and participating in this exciting sport.

SPORTS

The athletic department is composed of many excellent coaches, administrators, and athletes. The coaches are dedicated to producing the best teams possible. During the past four years, Horizon has managed to produce excellent teams in its short existence. Both boys and girls sports are offered at Horizon, and all are at close competition levels with other top ranked schools. The most important part of any sports program, including HHS, is the athletes participating in the programs offered. These are students who devote their time and effort to become excellent in their sport or sports. Many of these athletes prepare themselves for further athletic accomplishments in college of other programs. Our excellence in athletics has proved . . . IT ALL STARTS WITH DEDICATION.

Varsity Places Third In Division

The Varsity Football team had a very good season this year. Coach Gray feels they played to the best of their ability and played their hardest every game, "We were picked to finish last in our division and we ended up finishing third, with only seven returning linemen."

The middle of the season was toughest, but Dave Twibell says that the team's good enthusiasm helped them to bounce back together. Rich Schuman also commented on the teams enthusiasm and positive attitude, "I am happy about our attitude. No one had a negative attitude. If it weren't for all our good attitudes we wouldn't have won as many games as we did!"

"Thunderbird was the comeback game from the middle season, that gave us the winning record," says Coach Gray "We came back with eleven points in five minutes to win the game." Rich Schuman said that Chris Littlefield's passing had improved from the middle which helped them to pull through and win the game.

He also said, "Mike Heaghney was an outstanding line back and defensive captain."

The teams goal this year was to go to the playoffs, but unfortunately did not make it. They did end the season though with a winning record, and finished third in their division behind Moon Valley and St. Mary's.

Huskies Play With Pride

The Horizon Junior Varsity had a very productive year. They won their division with a record of 3-0-1. They lost four non-conference games by a total of only 8 points. "We have shown that we can compete with anybody", Coach Smith commented.

Exceptional progress was made by several of the players, but one player in particular stands out. In his first year as a running back, Brian Beyer came on so strong that he finished the last two games of the season as a starter on Varsity.

"Although we didn't have a lot of speed, our team had a lot of heart. We learned to play with pride and will never have to take a backseat to anyone," said Coach Smith.

The Huskie Freshmen team ended their season with an impressive 6-2 record. More than impressive, it's the best record accomplished by a frosh football team in Horizon's history.

Named as outstanding players were: quarterback — Brian Hampton, tight end — John Pepe, halfback — Ken Naponelli and receiver — Shea Scott.

The freshmen are accredited with having an outstanding offensive team. According to Coach Pickering, several players have excellent varsity potential.

"They were a fun team and we had a very enjoyable season," said Coach Pickering.

Leopold Finishes First

The girls Cross Country team remained undefeated this year. The team started practicing in late August. During the average daily practice, the girls cover from seven to ten miles.

Ms. Newsome, the girls coach, states that Trina Leopold is one of the most valuable members of the team. She has earned the title of state champion this year. Ms. Newsome also commends Beth Bates and Cathy Anderson for their performance.

The girls are rated number one in state and are considered by Ms. Newsome as "the best girls team Horizon has ever had."

The boys Cross Country team has improved greatly since last year. They've gone from last year's no win season to a nine-eight season record this year.

The boys have also been practicing since late August. When they practice, they work on their speed, do long runs, and hills.

Mr. Hazen, the boys coach, regards Scott Turner as a valuable part of the team. Tom Cornell and Tom Miller also receive recognition for doing well this year.

Success Comes With The 6-2 System

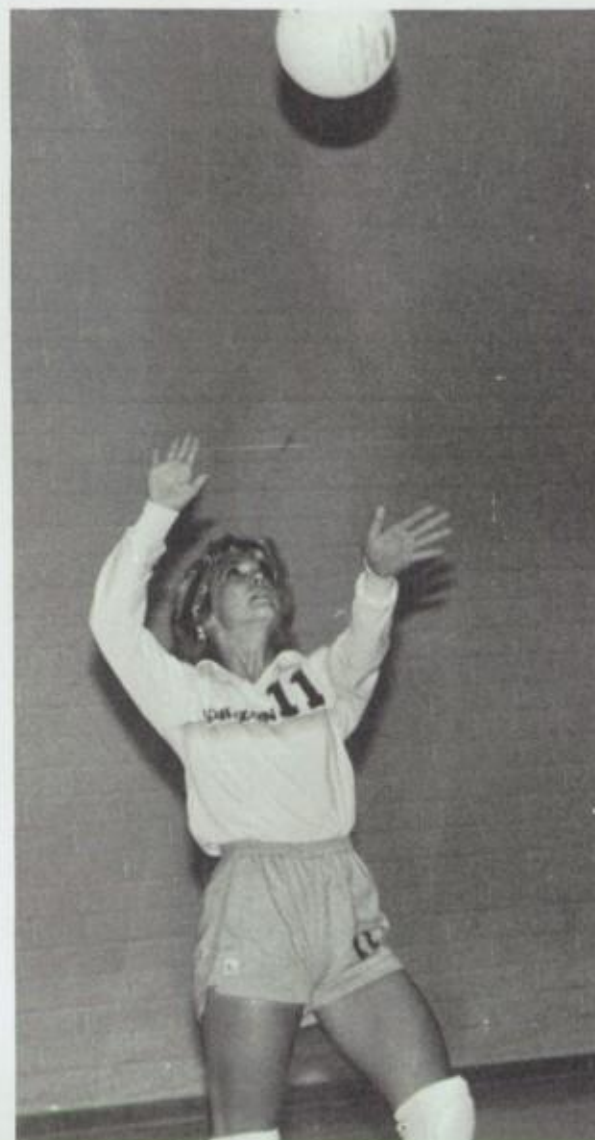

Varsity Volleyball completed an excellent season finishing 2nd in their division and with a season record of five wins and one loss.

Six of the ten varsity players were seniors this year. Although all the players performed with excellence this year, Coach McKenzie said Gretchen Creighton on defense and Virginia Valour on offense were two outstanding players. Virginia was the team's best hitter. Coach McKenzie explained that this was the best offensive team yet.

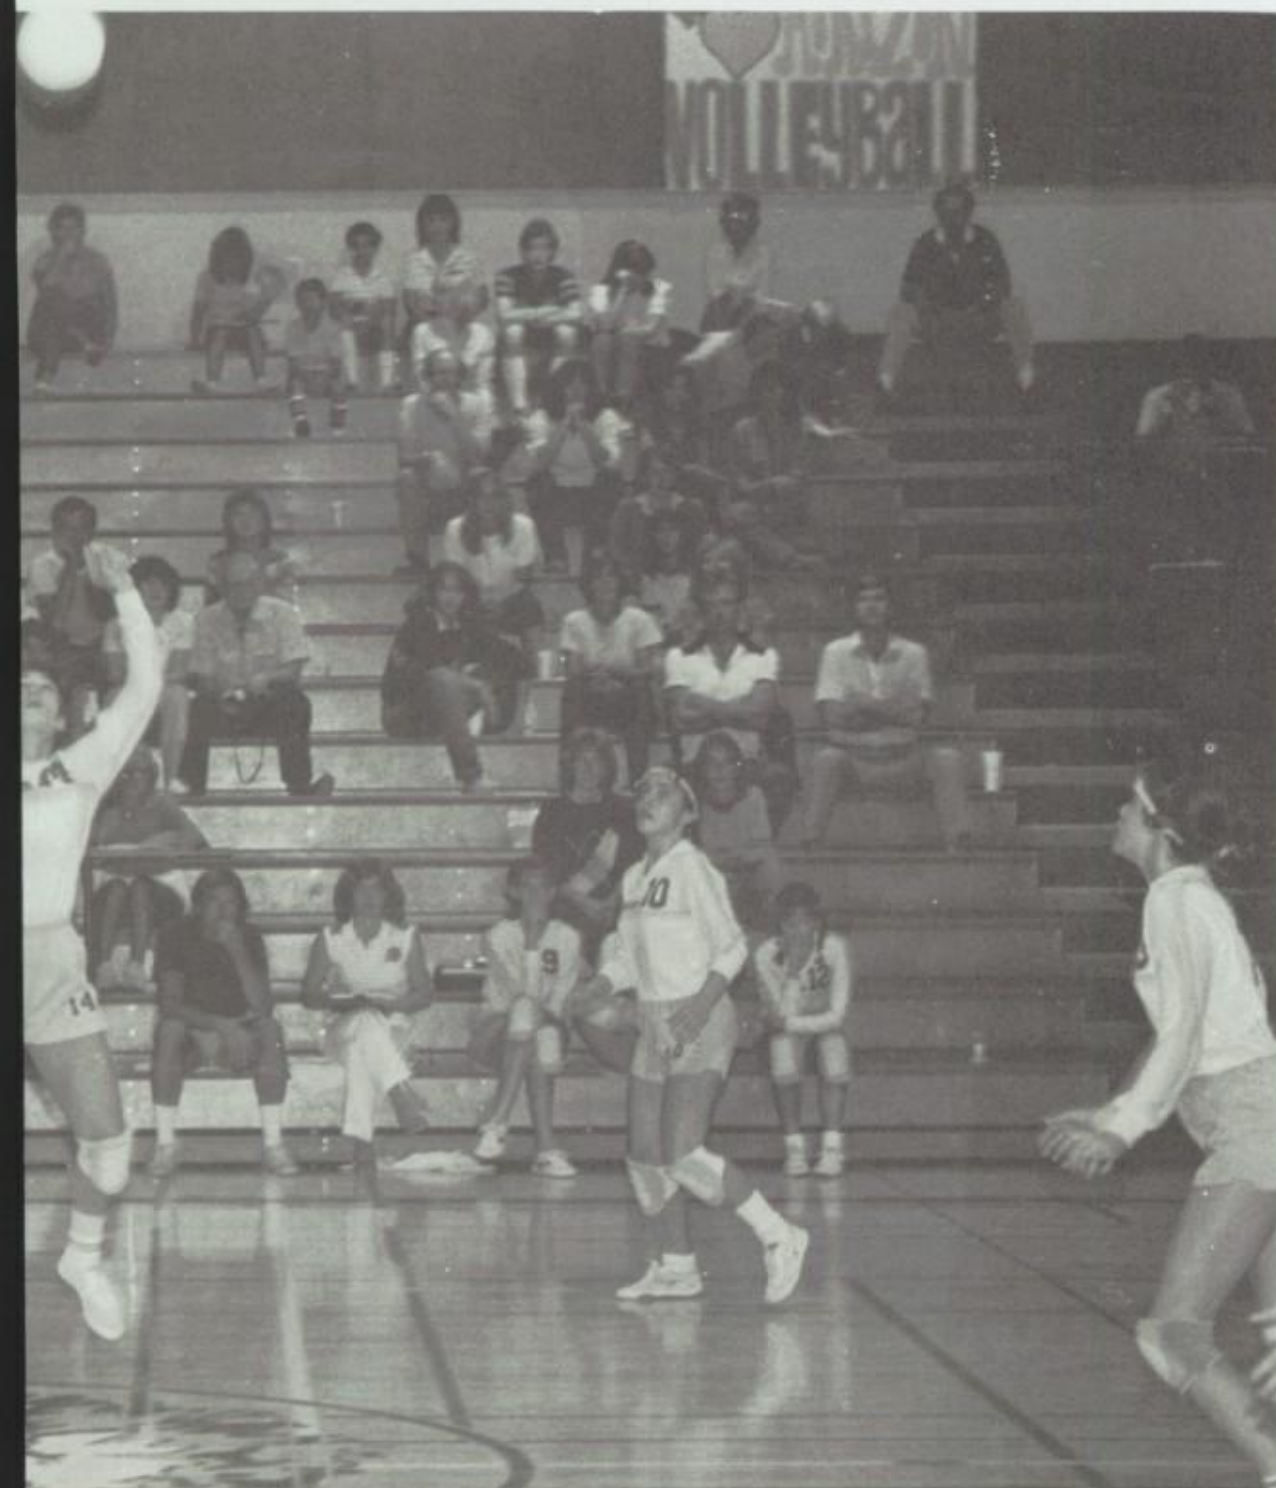

This year the varsity team virtually perfected the advanced 6-2 system. With this system of play each one of the players individual talents are used.

The Varsity Volleyball team went to divisionals in October. These playoffs were single elimination and they were defeated in the first round finishing 2nd in their overall division.

Team Work Pays Off

The JV and Freshman Volleyball squads make up another part of Horizon's winning fall season. The freshmen proudly won all their games while the JV only lost one.

Freshman coach, Dave Oliver, believes strongly in the girls on the team. He commented, "The biggest improvement was a stronger team cooperation. However, their weakest area was serving: they need to work harder."

The freshmen strategy was simple. Work on the basic skills and run a simple offense. Each girl had one turn as captain for one game. They also worked every school day from 2:30 to 5:45 with three Saturdays thrown in.

"I've got it!" exclaims Cathy Saragosa to Molly Kolnik.

Felicia Sardella sets the ball for Jane Miller while Leslie Leavitt stands ready to help.

Jane Miller prepares to assist, if needed.

JV had a very impressive year also. Coaches Ron Strauch and Val McKenzie both were pleased with JV's successful and best season yet. Coach Strauch thought that serving was the most improved while coach McKenzie felt that setting was. The strongest competition they had was the only team which had beaten them. That was Cortez.

The strategy used by JV had been known as "6-2." This is when two setters are used for six hitters. It is the first year ever used at Horizon, and it was very successful.

Badminton Ends With 8-4 Season

The Badminton teams had a good season winning 8 of the 12 matches while JV struggled to a 4-7 season.

The JV had a fair season but one member said, "We didn't do as well as we hoped to do." The JV team had several outstanding players including Molly Daoust and Sonya Adams.

All of the varsity team members went to Divisionals where Pam Rekiere and Rosemarie Stanton were ranked among the top players in the state.

The highlight of their season "was going to Prescott," one member said. Prescott was the last game of the season for both teams, and both teams won their games.

Six of the girls competed in State. They were Amy Blenkarn, Laura Author, Heather Garden, Jody Morrison, Annie Postorino, Kristen Yarnevich. Only four of the girls are graduating so Coach Greaves is looking forward to another great season and even more girls to be on the team. Varsity Basketball Plays Aggressive

Todd Parten looks for an open man.

Chris Littlefield and opponent jump for the ball.

The Varsity Basketball team had some pretty good qualities, this year; one of them was the players. The starting lineup consisted of John Walsh, Brian Mathews, Steve Barker, Todd Parten; and either Chris Littlefield or Lane Schmietenkhop. Coach Pierce felt that the team didn't have the height this year, but they hustled and were aggressive. John Walsh also commented that the lack of height forced the team to rely on their shooting and fast breaks, though some of the players felt that they could have improved some on their fast breaks. Other good qualities were their techniques. Brian Mathews, the team's top scorer, averaging 20 points a game, and Stu Shalowitz said they played hard defense and played as a team. Coach Pierce felt that the team did have a few "disappointing losses" but "they played hard and had a lot of pride, these two ingredients mixed together make for a successful season, regardless of losses."

Chris Littlefield shoots for extra point.

Defensive Play Improves But Goals Not Reached

Coach Pierce felt that at the end of the season the players played more as a team and worked better together defensively. The goals the team set were not reached, and the team was disappointed, but it didn't show in the way they played, they came with in one point of upsetting playoff bound Apollo in the last game. As a whole, Coach Pierce said that most the players improved throughout the year, yet Steve Venable, Chris Granger, and Dave Twibell improved the most. Coach Pierce also stated that, "We have some fine young players coming up next year, and with a good attitude, our future looks brighter."

The JV Basketball team ended its season with a winning record. Coach Williamson said he was very impressed with their enthusiasm. Although all the players performed with excellence, Coach Williamson named David Ligerman and Jeff Sobotka as outstanding players and Chris Matthews as the Most Valuable Player. During the season John Ragan transferred to Horizon from Brophy. Because of the transfer he was ineligible to play in the games, however he participated in their practices regularly. Coach Williamson feels Ragan will be very valuable next year.

The Freshmen Basketball team ended their season with an outstanding 11-4 record. Coach Taylor said that team success depended strongly on the outstanding ability of John Pepe, Rusty Fallin, Ray Montez, and Tim Skala. Two other outstanding players were Brian Hampton and Shea Scott who were moved to JV just before midseason. Coach Taylor commented that he thought the remaining members of the team were very capable of handling the extra pressure. Coach Taylor foresees an excellent JV team next year.

Young Soccer Team Improves Skills

The soccer team improved extensively due to the support of the outstanding senior players. There was no single player who could be considered "The Best," said coach Ed Stein. Chosen, however, as best players were highest scorer and outstanding offensive person, Steve Sodell; Outstanding mid-fielder, Steve Borst; and Outstanding defensive player, Joel Pearson. The most improved players were Paul Alessio and Jason Robinson. All over team improvement was in the offensive area. The majority of graduating senior players plan on continuing soccer at the university level.

Clubs

Learning Begins With Involvement

Involvement in extra curricular activities, such as clubs, play a major role in many student's high school lives. Many clubs have already been in existence for many years, but some have just formed this year, such as SADD. These clubs are led by ambitious students and teachers who want to help other students grow. They involve their clubs in many community projects, such as food drives, family sponsorship, and helping with the handicapped. Some clubs are open only to qualifying students, such as honorary societies, but most are open to anybody that wants to get involved. Not only do students help others, they also learn more about a certain area of study, and learn to be an important part in an organization. From this it can be said ... LEARNING BEGINS WITH INVOLVEMENT.

Student Council Plans Use of Funds

Student Council is formed for the benefit of the school and it's students. The goal is to represent the opinions and concern of the students, parents, teachers and the administration. They also offer activities for the enjoyment of the entire school.

The Student Government has been able to run more smoothly this year than in the past. The reason for this is that they finally caught up on their debts, and more money can be used. The students involved are interested in the construction of a marquee and improving the landscape during 1983-1984.

Student body President, Byron Auguste, stated that anyone who participates in school activities and shows school spirit is considered involved with Student Council. To become a senator students were to take a constitution test before they were eligible to run. The competitors had to score an eighty-percent or better on the exam. The students in the respective class, voted for the candidates of their choice. Five senators are chosen from each class. Student Government also includes appointees. Appointees are actually senators, without the right to vote during parliamentary meetings. They are chosen by their performance, ideas and opinions during an interview. The interview is conducted by Mr. Wells and Byron.

Student Council members have to take a leadership course during their term. The course advisor is Mr. Wells. Each student is graded upon his/her participation in making decisions, showing school spirit and organizing school activities. Meetings are scheduled during class, allowing members to make decisions representing the student body.

During the past summer, committees were set up to keep the council organized. This is the first time the committees were used, and they have seemed to work for the most part. Each committee discusses ideas, and the committee chairperson reports the information to the rest of the Student Government members.

Four major committees were started. Treasury and Budget committee is designed to keep records of the council's finances and how much they are able to spend. A second committee, Public Relations, works on school publicity and tries to establish good relations between students and administration. Activities Planning Committee has the job of organizing dances and pep assemblies. The most active committee is School Improvement. They gave the ideas of the marquee and the landscaping to the members of Student Council.

Executive Officers Run Government

Executive Officers also help make up Student Government. Seven student body representatives are elected. The presidential position, which is held by Byron Auguste, controls the class and has the most power. Jonathon Reed, Vice-President, runs the House of Advisors and also replaces the President when needed to do so. The Treasurer, Carrie Anderson is to make sure student council finances are being used wisely. The Treasurer is assisted by the Financial Secretary, Lisa Touyé. Erika Carpenter holds the position of Executive Secretary. Her job is to take notes during each class. The Historian/

Creative Ideas Improve Books

Plans for the fourth edition of the Horizon Heritage began early. During the summer the editors and some staff members attended a journalism camp at NAJ. During the week, lectures gave students much needed ideas and motivation.

Before school began, a theme was selected and a basic outline of the book was started. Once school began, several weeks were used teaching new staff members how to draw layouts, crop photos and improve copy.

New features were sections on summer activities, student jobs, and teenage problems. Continued from last year was the newspaper section, which deals with the many things that students are indirectly affected by. Also covered were the usual fashions and concerts.

To add a new dimension to the yearbook the size was enlarged. The cover design was specially drawn by a commercial artist, Senior Steve Harper.

Yearbook went through several problems, the first being the lack of photographers. Deadlines were met with difficulty because of the staff's inexperience.

Despite the many obstacles, the staff pulled together to meet their deadlines. Advisor Marie Donelson worked with editors Valerie Kinsella and Steve Hampton to tackle the problems when they appeared.

Newspaper Staff Makes Comeback

Panorama, the school's newspaper, has certainly seen its ups and downs. The paper wasn't printed for nearly the entire first quarter. This was due to staff members who didn't take the journalism class, required for admission to the Panorama staff. Mrs. Donelson, the newspaper advisor, took each of these students and placed them in her journalism class to teach them the basics. The class then put their skills to work as they learned, by preparing the first issue of Panorama. The initial paper was released in November.

The reporters for Panorama wrote about subjects that affect the interests and views of the Horizon students. Stories on drug abuse, abortion, and other controversial issues were printed. Record reviews, movie reviews, and special feature stories were also run. Interviews, photographs, and stories featuring school athletes were favored. Although the final decision on what is printed goes to Mrs. Donelson, the original ideas and decisions as to what goes in are the responsibility of the student editors.

HOESA Creates New Challenges

The Medical Careers total program consists of programs for students with interests and abilities in science related careers. Students who have success in science or biology can elect to take this class. This course provides students with indepth awareness in medicine, animal science, psychology, sociology, public health, technology, research, and the allied health careers. The course introduces the students to basic health assessment skills, anatomy, physiology, and medical terminology. The students this year have shown themselves to be bright and vivatious through classroom study, laboratory practice and meetings with representatives of the health care industry. They are becoming more aware of the realities of health careers. Acute Student Association, HOESA, is comprised of students with high goals. The students elect to explore different medicines, which may result in a future profession.

HERO is a class, first hour, that learns to deal with human relations on the job. They learn how to apply for a job and write resumes. They investigate their own career interests and write job descriptions.

In the club they learn leadership skills. They do community service activities, such as Halloween parties for little kids.

HERO has many fundraisers, which include candy sales, Christmas ornaments, Gifts Galore, Valentine candy and Easter bunnies.

HERO goes to three state events where all the members in the state get together. There are about 47 chapters in the state.

DECA, COE Learn While Earning

The Cooperative Office Education, COE, program provides students with on-the-job-training as well as classroom study. Members are required to attend classes part of the school day, and work in an office for a minimum of 15 hours per week. Through a business and school approach, the student is trained for an office career. While earning money and building their office skills, the students also receive two credits for their hard work. Many of the students are employed in businesslike offices, such as banks and insurance companies. Very much like COE is a program called DECA. DECA is a part of the MDE, (Marketing and Distributive Education) program, which is an education for marketing. Many students join MDE because they are interested in DECA, (Distributive Education Clubs of America). DECA helps the student understand free enterprise and economic awareness. It has a Scholarship Loan Program to help its students toward a higher education. DECA, like COE, employs the student in a part-time job while they also attend school in the morning.

Vica Students Train For Future

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) and Industrial Cooperative Education (ICE) are known in the school and community as leaders and skilled professionals.

Any student wishing to participate in Vocational Education may take ICE as a course. Those students who want to further their involvement may join the club VICA. By running their own clubs, electing officers, and setting their own goals, the students learn many skills.

ICE members then participate in the Skill Olympics in the Spring. This is a political convention and congress all rolled into one. VICA and ICE students learn and develop personal skills, as well as a better attitude towards their job.

Academic Clubs Enhance Futures

The computer club contains 25 students. Of them are President Pat Brem, Vice President Cindy Roberts, Secretary Ron Katcher, and Treasurer Rolf Scherer. Each student is involved in such activities as fund-raising for more computer equipment, coming to listen to guest speakers on careers, and going on field trips to places like Motorola, IBM, and AT&T companies.

To be in this club one has to have computer classes prior to entrance. In addition to this, they must be taking geometry or any higher math. The computers are at access to these students during lunch.

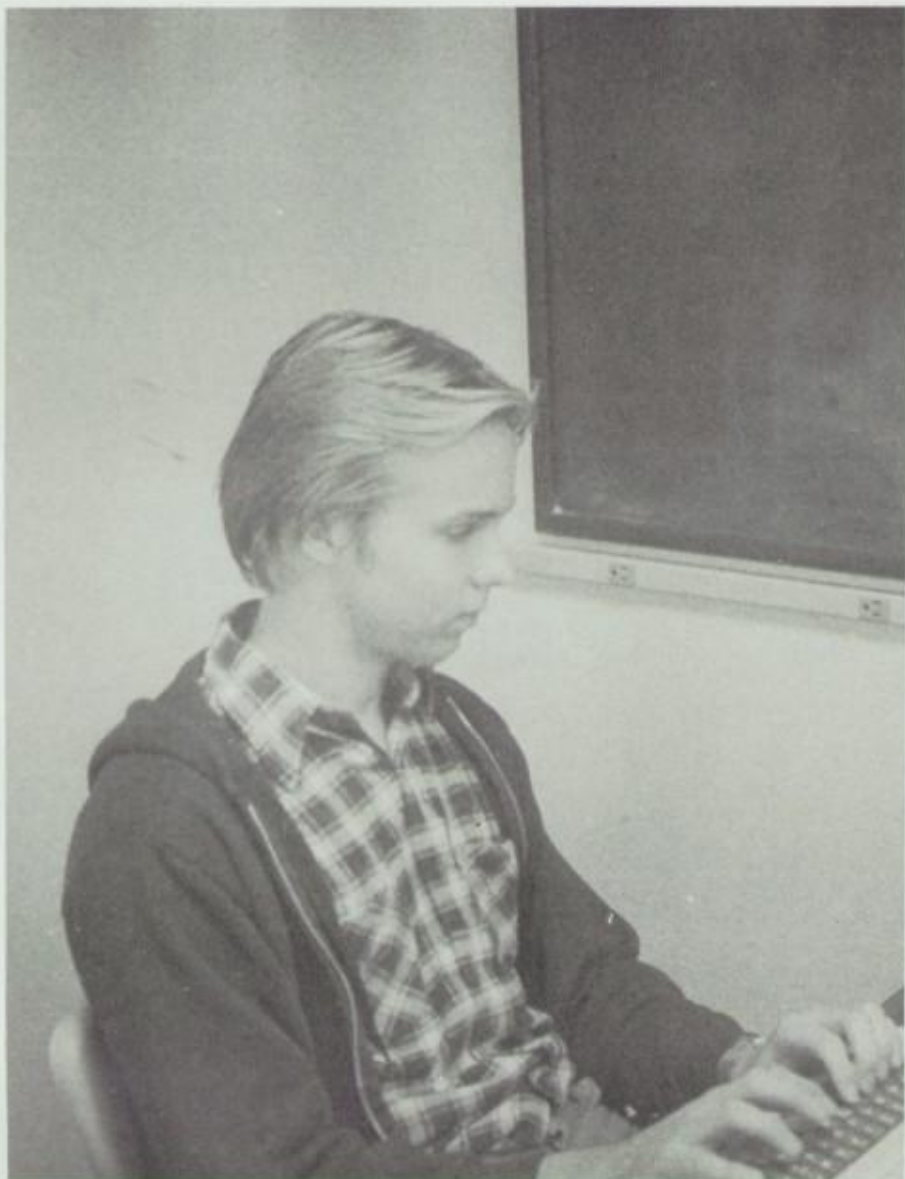

The NHS Club has certain requirements that were met by approximately sixty students with an induction of new members at the beginning of the second semester. The requirements for being selected are a 3.5 accumulative grade point average, scholarship ability, leadership ability, a good character, and to have served in the community. Once they are eligible by scholarship ability, they are invited to fill out an application. Then, based on the answers, the faculty committee judges applicants by the criteria. If all goes well, they get inducted and become an active member.

Mu Alpha Theta is the math honorary society. It is set up to serve the school and to give awards to people who do well in math. The members volunteer their services as tutors to those having trouble. They held a Math-a-thon to raise money for St. Jude's Hospital. Ruth Fowle represented the club last summer at a national conference.

The French Honorary adopted a needy family for Christmas. They collected food, toys, and clothing for them. They are also using their funds to make the upper level French courses "the best that they can be," says Ms. Ryan. In cooperation with the Spanish Honorary they held a school-wide canned food drive for the Vista del Camino Food Bank.

The Spanish Honorary operated a tutoring service for students having trouble in Spanish. They adopted a Spanish speaking needy family in Guadalupe, Arizona for the holidays. The group enjoys attending Spanish speaking movies, concerts, and plays.

The Spanish Club held a "Welcome Banquet" at Paraiso Pinata. They took a trip to Nogales during second semester. This was due in part to their candy sales.

The German Club was organized to raise the consciousness in the students and the community regarding the German/American Tricentennial.

Cheer Promotes School Spirit

The Horizon Cheerline increased in numbers this year to 14 members; having eight varsity and six junior varsity. The girls job was to encourage spirit and promote enthusiasm towards school activities.

The girls worked hard all summer preparing for the new school year. They held car washes in order to help pay for the 4-day cheer camp they attended in Irvine, California, where they received the Superior award and Spirit Stick.

Under the supervision of their new sponsor, Miss Russell, the girls organized such fund raisers as pretzel sales and cheer clinics held at the nearby middle schools.

With the help of Husky mascot, Dawn Brown, the girls put on many assemblies involving students, as well as faculty members, and helped in creating many dedicated Husky fans.

Pom's Spirit Will Not Be Beat

Horizon's pom line faced many changes this year with only four returning members. Through hard work and even more dedication they made it a very successful year.

Over the summer the pom line spent four days at camp. From camp they brought home a spirit stick, a superior award, and an excellence pendant. After camp the work was far from over with two hour practices daily from 5:30 to 7:30 in the morning. Throughout the school year two hours of practice each day was spent in preparing and practicing new routines to entertain the Husky fans.

The effort put in by all Horizon High Marching Band members is paying off. Much practice plus hard work is very rewarding. The Marching Band received an "Excellent" at the Arizona State University competition. The band is made up of eighty-five members which include two drum majors, six flags, one baton twirler, and many other different instruments. At the end of the band's season, they performed a show called "The Past in Review," covering most of the material they had learned during the 1983-84 school year. Mr. Rudy, the marching band instructor, dedicated much of his time preparing and teaching his students for their great performances in competition and parades. The band demonstrated their spirit at school games and assemblies.

Band Competes With Lots of Style

This is Mr. Rudy's first year conducting the Horizon Symphonic Band, and the Jazz Ensemble. He is very pleased with their performance, "I think they are doing fine," he said.

The Symphonic Band competed in the Mountain States Festival at ASU where they rated an excellent. The Jazz Ensemble decided against competing in the ABODA competition this year, but with the Symphonic Band, drama and chorus presented a musical.

For fundraisers they participated in the Fine Arts cookie sale. They also participated in the cheese and sausage sale during Christmas. The money that they raised went toward the end of the year banquet.

Christmas Concert Is Successful

Under the direction of Mr. Hughes, Choir students faced a challenging year of making the most out of each piece of music. As soon as they finish one concert, they began on other music for their next concert. One of their more successful concerts was the Christmas Concert because of the variety of music played, such as "Fame", "Medley of Christmas Carols", and "This is Love".

Besides participating in class and concerts, students also participated in fund-raisers. The most successful was a bake sale during lunches. Outside the cafeteria, they offered cookies and other baked goods to the students.

Choir takes much time and effort to perfect their musical talents. This hard work includes practice during and after school, but the end result is a satisfied feeling of accomplishment for the Choir members.

Classes

Making Each Year Different

The Senior class of 1984 returned to Horizon to complete the last of our long, hard years. The Seniors have spent the past four years setting traditions for future classes to follow.

To make the last of four long years as special as possible, Senior officers began early preparations.

The year started out with participation in Homecoming. With a lot of time and work a float was constructed with a theme of "The 80's". Included were such ideas as the space shuttle, Mount St. Helens and the Olympics.

The Senior Prom, scheduled in June, was held at Mountain Shadows.

As graduation approached, seniors became more restless each day. Even though everyone looked forward to the future, they remembered how they ... MADE EACH YEAR DIFFERENT!

Trina Runs Full Time

Trina spends time at her home away from home.

"It's exciting," exclaimed Trina Leopold when she was asked why she runs, "I get the feeling of accomplishment when I do well."

Trina tries to be a team member and not act like a conceited top runner. She feels that one of the team's best qualities is that they are a team. "Mrs. Newsome tries to pep us up for meets by giving words of encouragement" said Trina.

Trina started running in the 7th grade but she never really became serious about her running until her junior year, "I then realized that I had potential to become good."

Running doesn't interfere with her life. A week before a major meet she might get somewhat moody but her grades get better during season because she has to be more organized.

Trina plans to become a serious runner, "I want to be a somebody like Mary Decker Tabb and not another good runner who threw it away."

He's On Target

Gordon checks gun carefully before firing.

Gordon Schroeder served as president to the rifle club the past two years. His major responsibilities entail approving other members for shooting events.

On Wednesdays and Fridays the 15 members practice shooting at either Black Canyon or Rio Salado Shooting Ranges.

Gordon has been shooting since he was eleven. He regularly shoots bows, rifles, shotguns, and handguns. He has hunted in most of Arizona and hopes to hunt in Canada.

He is training to be one of the best shooters in the state, "I hope to make the 1988 Olympics for shooting."

Gordon is also an active member of DECA. "I feel experience in outdoor activities will be beneficial in managing a sports store," Gordon explained.

DECA Cheers Him On

Russ Casenhiser seems to be a born leader. In his junior year, he was class president and a senator, and is presently president of DECA. Russ feels he has benefited the most from leadership skills while holding office in Horizon Organizations.

Russ grew up in Akron Ohio. In his previous school he was president of the student council and in the leaders club. He was captain of the Chess club and placed first in divisionals and fifth in state.

In the future Russ hopes to go to college and major in management. "Someday, maybe I'll own a large corporation," he said.

DECA is an important part of Russ's school life.

Jeanne Has The Look

Jeanne Gustke, senior honor student and professional model, is involved in many activities.

Presently, Jeanne works as a salesclerk at Miller's Outpost and is a professional runway model represented by L'Image which trained her to be self-confident and coordinated. Reflecting on her modeling career she said, "glamorous when you are up on the stage but what goes on behind the stage is not glamorous at all."

She says, "In order to start a successful modeling career, you must have a lot of money to start out with because modeling is one of the most expensive careers to get started in."

Kathy Visits France

Kathy hopes to repeat her summer next year.

Kathy Kilday is being recognized for her accomplishments and interests in French studies.

Kathy was selected to participate in NACEL, a foreign exchange service that matched her interests with a girl in France. The girl then traveled to the U.S. to stay with Kathy's family.

Kathy then accompanied her new friend to her home in France. While there she did some traveling but spent most of her time in Styniex.

Besides studying French 7-8 and being in French Honorary, Kathy is also a member of NHS and Mu Alpha Theta. Kathy's outside interests include windsurfing and bicycling.

After graduation Kathy plans to attend college and major in French, Chinese and or Japanese. After college she would like a career in the import/export business.

As junior class vice president she was responsible for most of the prom organization and decoration.

In addition, she has been in French club, played tennis, track and softball.

In her spare time Sandra likes horseback riding, cooking and bicycling. She is also actively involved in her church group.

Sandra plans to graduate from ASU and work in Christian ministry.

Chris has been in computer club for three years and is always involved in computer contests. Chris has also been involved in track and cross country at HHS.

Chris would like to have a dual major, one in computer science and the other electrical engineering. When asked what he would like to be, he replied, "I'd like to be rich."

Junior Officers Plan Casual Dance

The class of 85 finally passed the halfway point and could be considered "upperclassmen." With this title comes more responsibilities.

Officers were elected in October, just in time for Homecoming. Their float placed third, it represented the 20's.

The major fundraisers were during Homecoming. Balloons and shakers were sold.

During the Christmas Holidays mistletoe was sold.

Instead of the traditional Junior Formal, class officers decided to have a more casual dance. Plans were for an evening at Rawhide.

Sophs Start Junior Formal Funding

As the class of '86 returned for their second year, they strived to earn more respect from upperclassmen through their activities.

The main events for the Sophomores were Homecoming and fundraising. The sixties was the decade chosen by Sophomore officers. Two weeks of hard work paid off when the float placed second.

The majority of funds raised went towards paying off debts. Savings have begun for their Junior Formal.

Officers Prepare Frosh For Year

The freshmen class of 87 enters high school with the largest class in Horizon's history.

The class of 87 entered Horizon in September as Freshmen. Although respect and kindness were seldom seen from the upperclassmen, they made the best of their first year in high school.

Officers were selected at the beginning of the year. The four elected officers and the sponsor made many plans to help the frosh have a more enjoyable year.

The freshmen mainly concentrated on getting united as a class. For Homecoming, a float was constructed to represent the 1950's era.

Already looking ahead to their Junior and Senior years, fundraising helped get them off to a good start.

Academics

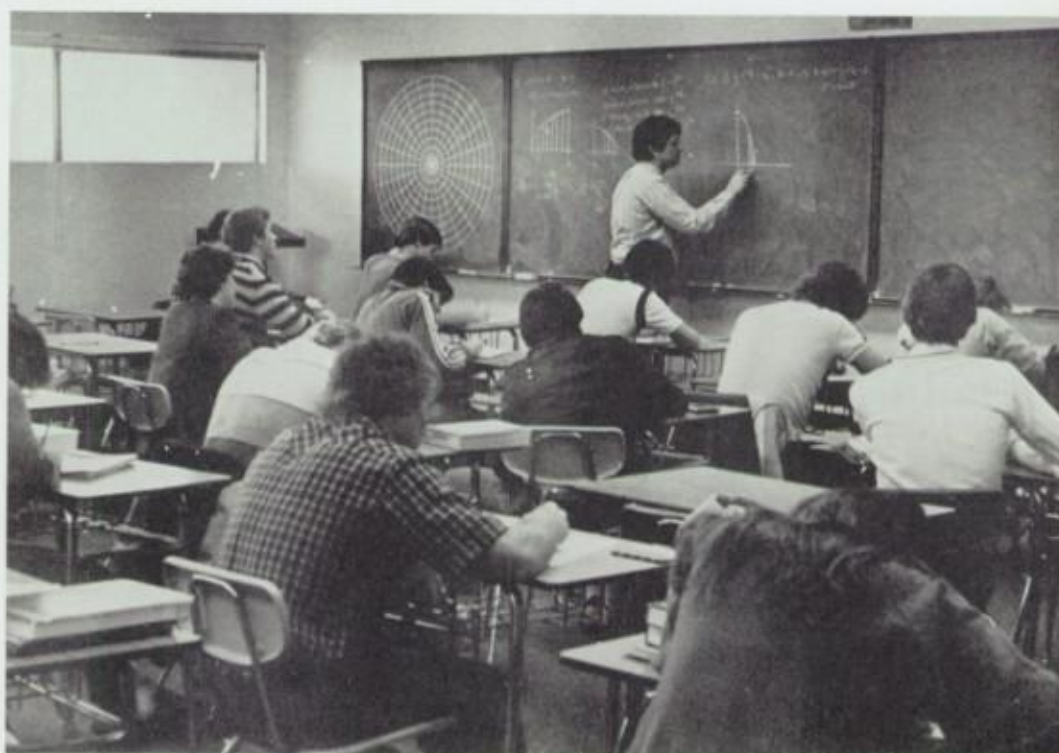

Futures Begin In Class

Preparation for college is the major emphasis of the curriculum at Horizon. The teachers and staff have been praised for their professionalism and involvement in extra-curricular activities. This quality staff helps produce students with a good attitude toward learning. Many of these students stand out among the rest of the students for their outstanding success when compared with other students in Arizona. These students achieve their stature through hard study, dedication and talent. High grade point averages, along with school activities, can be used to gain scholarships and acceptance into highly accredited universities. For students... FUTURES BEGIN IN CLASS.

School Board Emphasizes Challenge

Doug Dickerson prepares for the meeting.

The Board of Education makes its meetings open to public discussion.

Paradise Valley Unified School District No. 69

Where Individual Excellence Is Our Goal

To The Students of Horizon High School:

I have often said that education is nothing more than a system that teaches us to think. It instructs our students on how to distinguish what is important from what is unimportant, what is lasting from what is ephemeral, and what is beautiful from what is ugly. At a minimum, on graduation, each of you should be able to deal effectively with the issues of the day.

For some years, this Board in cooperation with parents, teachers, and administrators have struggled with the question of a more demanding curriculum. There can be no doubt that the course of study needed to graduate is more stringent and difficult than before. A world history requirement, a physical education requirement, a tougher economics requirement, and a four year english requirement are among the changes made in recent years. Starting next year, the board expects to carry this process further and invoke a recommended college preparatory and advanced academic curriculum.

We live in a fast changing world. Our emphasis must be on general education. You must learn to appreciate the best literature, enjoy the best art, judge the great statesmen, and know the essential principles of mathematics and science. To comprehend and appreciate these things will give all of you a richer and more meaningful life.

Too often, it is said that students are tempted to take courses that are easy or that merely interest them. You must resist that temptation. Take those courses that challenge your intellect and imagination. Nothing that comes too easily is worthwhile. Choose your curriculum wisely and you will be a happier and better individual.

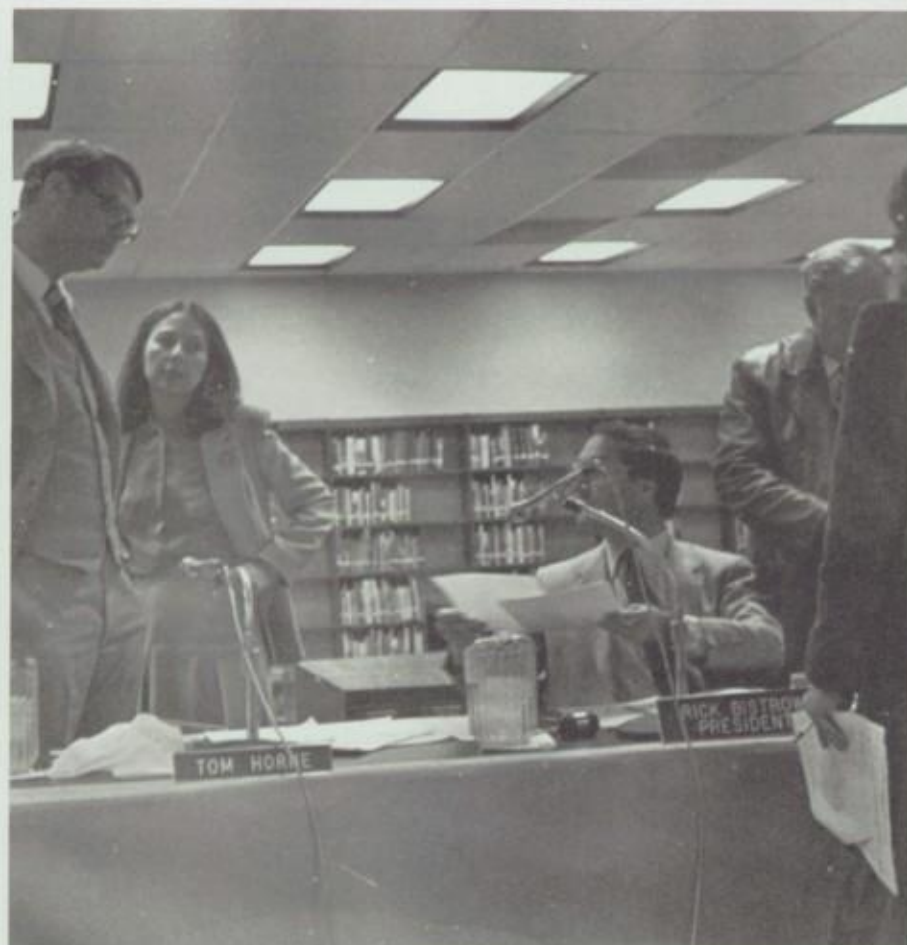

Good luck.

Very truly yours,

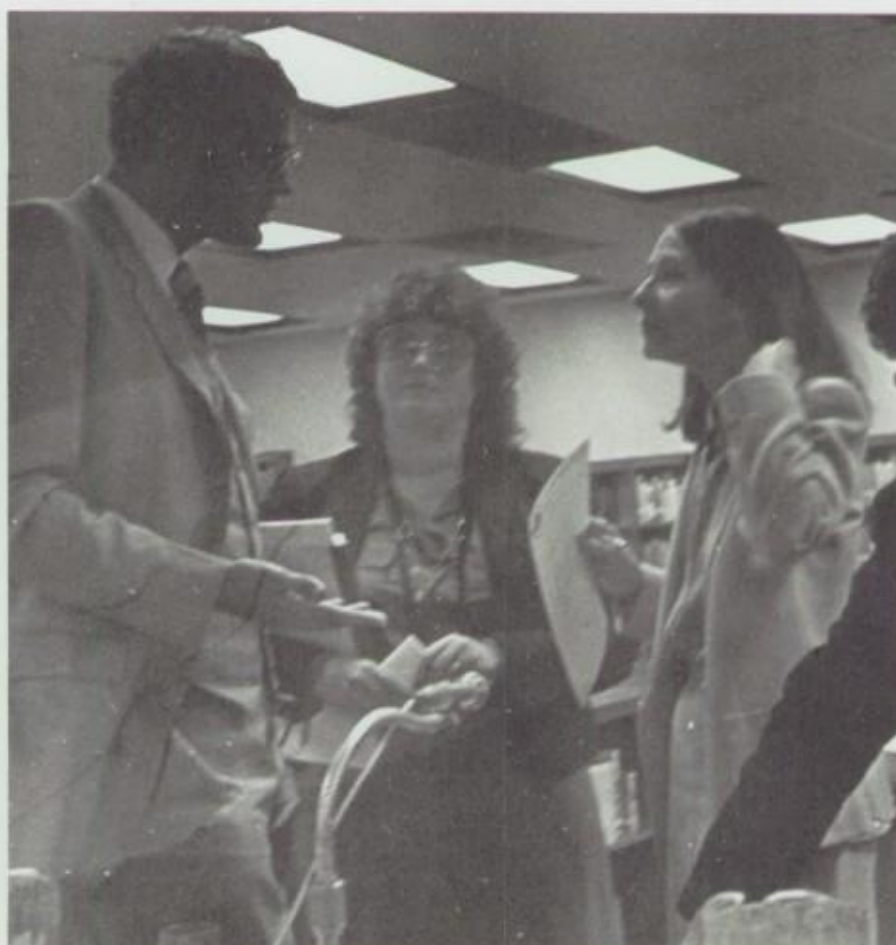

Eric J. Bistrow
President, Paradise
Valley School Board

Administration Congratulates The Graduates

Paradise Valley Unified School District No. 69

Where Individual Excellence is Our Goal

Dear Horizon Students and Friends,

The graduating class of 1984 marks the first class to have attended Horizon High School for all four years. It has been our pleasure to have known you and worked with you over this period of time. You have seen Horizon grow from just over eleven hundred students to our present student population of above twenty-two hundred students. Each group of students that goes through our school seems to make us richer for their being able to share their lives with us.

Congratulations to all of our graduates, and we hope you will often recount the many good experiences you have had with us and will keep us aware of your accomplishments.

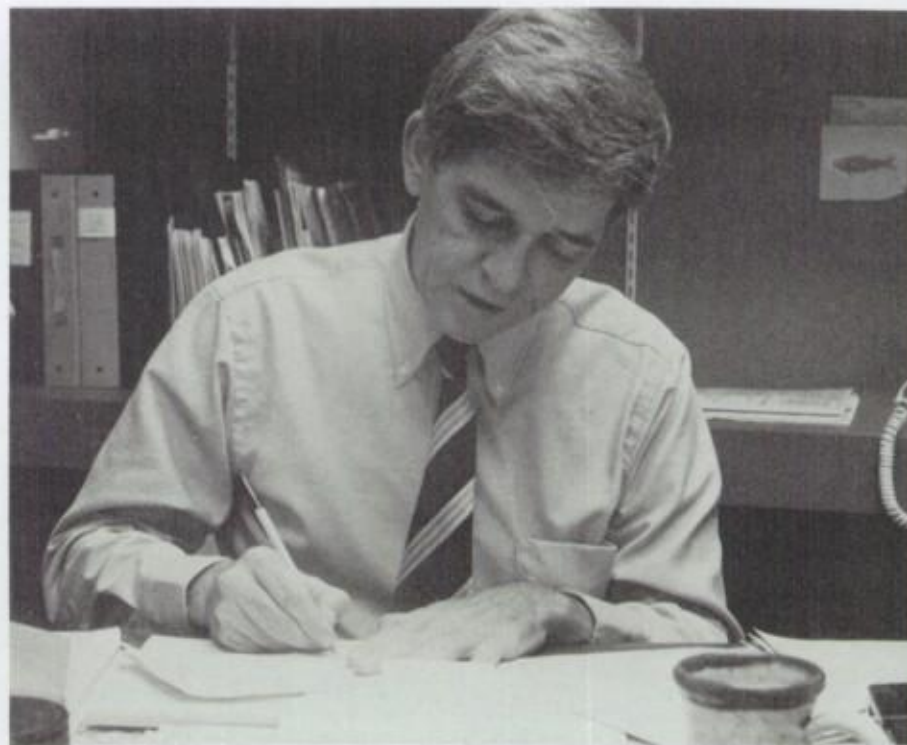

We are proud that you are part of our Horizon Family.

Sincerely yours,

Foreign Language Dept. Expands

Laurie Peters, a senior this year, was chosen by Mrs. Martin as an outstanding Spanish student. She has had five years of Spanish and is an active member in the Spanish Honorary. Last year she tutored Spanish speaking students in learning English.

Laurie is planning to go on to college and major in business marketing. She would like to use her language ability in her career.

Laurie has visited Mexico previously on a family trip. She hopes to someday visit Spain as well. In her spare time, she enjoys playing basketball and badminton.

One of this year's exceptional German students is senior Kim Staples.

The interesting thing about Kim is that she lived in South Africa for seven years, where there are many German speaking people. "That's how I got interested in German," explained Kim.

She is currently enrolled in her third year of German and is a member of the German Honorary.

After graduation, Kim plans to continue with her German at Scottsdale Community College, but she would like to start a career in medicine. After completing college, she plans to travel to Germany.

One of Horizon's most accomplished French students is Rosemarie Stanton. She has taken French since seventh grade in junior high.

She is currently enrolled in French Independent Study, where she helps the students who are in their first year of French, and does her own work as well.

Rosemarie is involved in both the French Honorary and the French Club. In the French Club, she is secretary. When she is not studying her French, she enjoys swimming and playing badminton.

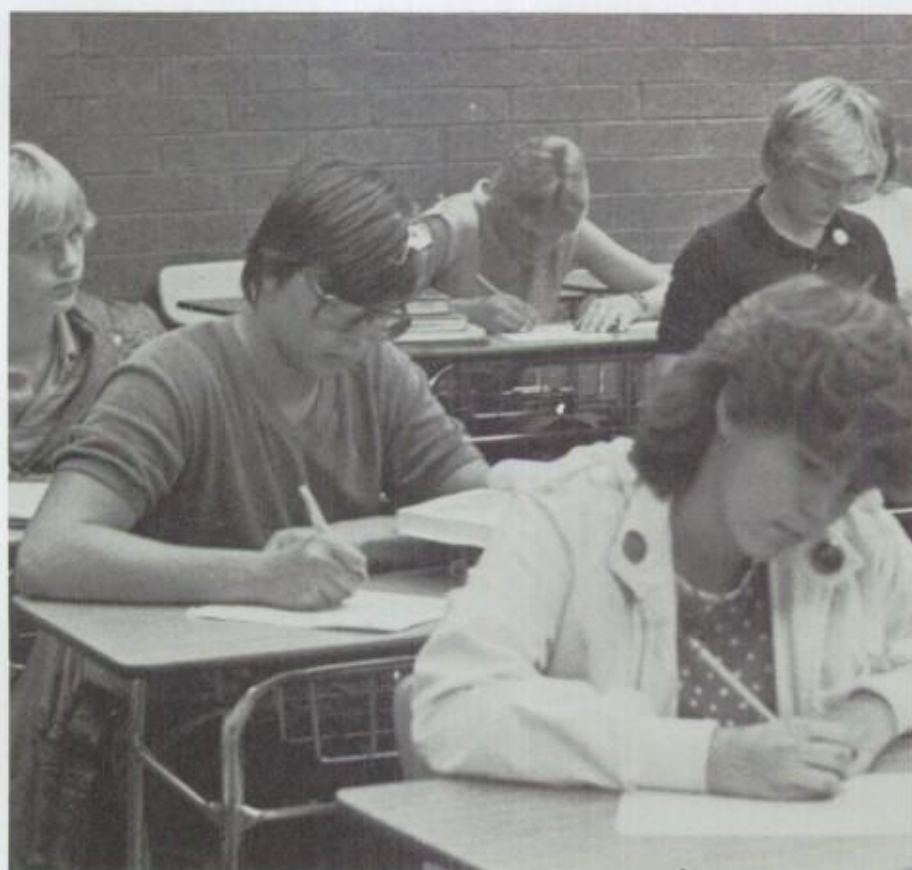

Rosemarie plans to attend college in California. She would like to continue in French, but is also interested in law and engineering. She is planning a trip to France this summer.

For the first time in Horizon's history, the foreign language department is offering Latin as another alternative in foreign language.

Advanced Placement English (AP English), is the highest level of English offered. It is a college level class, and most of the students must have had advanced English since their freshman year. This is Mr. Kellen's third year teaching this class.

During the summer before the class, the students were to read a number of novels that would be discussed in class. "The books they read were 'Great novels of Literature'," explained Mr. Kellen.

In AP English, the students have group work, individual study and have class discussion, but the main purpose of the class is the AP test. The things Mr. Kellen teaches the class are taught with this test in mind. Those who score well on the test, are eligible for an honors course in Freshman College English or can receive a college credit for the class without actually taking it.

Advanced Placement English is a good class for those who do well in English and want to continue in the field.

Computer Students Plan Future

As a senior working at college level in computer science, it is easy to understand why Jon Lammers was named as an outstanding student.

Jon has taken Introduction to Computers, Computers 3-4 and Computer 5-6. In Computer 5-6, he works on programs at a college level. He is also enrolled in computer science.

In the future, Jon wants to attend ASU. He plans to major in computer science. Jon is uncertain of his future career.

Jon spends his spare time at work and he enjoys playing football and racquetball.

Alan Lundgren was chosen by Mr. Jensen as an outstanding student in the math area. He has taken accelerated courses in Geometry, Algebra 3-4, Trigonometry and Calculus.

He plans to go to Stanford University. Alan wants to major in pre-law or business administration. After college, he would like to attend law school.

While Alan is not in school, he works and he plays racquetball, golf and baseball. He also likes to read and go to the movies.

Junior, Heather Baker, was chosen by Ms. Moore as an outstanding science student for 1983-1984. She spends most of her spare time in the science department. Heather cares for the animals, and enjoys it very much.

Heather has taken advanced courses in General Science, Biology and Chemistry. She also is involved in Medical Careers, Health Occupations Education (HOE) and Anatomy and Physiology. Her favorite course is Anatomy. She also likes Biology. She enjoys them the most because they focus on medicine.

Naturally, Heather's favorite subject is science. She also enjoys math. She plans to go into medicine. After graduation, Heather wants to attend college either in California or at the University of Arizona.

Heather says that most of her spare time is spent working or doing homework. It is obvious that school is an important part of her life.

Students Study World Events

The social studies class being featured, is Mr. Wolfe's fourth hour Advanced Government class. The curriculum they cover is the same as regular government classes, but they do different things with the material. Sid Lewis one of the students, comments, "The class is not too interesting, but Mr. Wolfe makes it more fun."

This class is advanced, and one thing that makes this course different is more classroom discussion. Which Vesta Sampanes thinks, "Makes the class more interesting, and you learn more that way, it also helps us apply knowledge that will be useful to us." Another different thing that comes across was the use of TIME magazine. Mr. Wolfe explains the use for TIME magazine is so the students will have a better background for current events. Paul Bryant says, "Hopefully we will get to use them to our benefit." Elena Zavras thinks it will help them to learn about what's going on now, instead of in the past. Everyone agreed that the tests were much harder, and there was a lot more homework.

Mr. Wolfe's final comments were that he enjoyed teaching the class, and he feels the kids are in there because they want to learn, and be challenged.

Selecting David Basinger as the "Outstanding Student Council Member" was easy according to Mr. Wells.

Mr. Wells continued, David could always be counted on to do more than his share. He has volunteered hours and hours to help make the school a better and more of a fun place to be. Many of the activities put on by Student Council are a direct result of David's involvement.

David has been a member of student council since his seventh grade year. He is now holding the position of senior senator. In previous years he has held various positions on the executive board, such as social governor, parliamentarian, and treasurer.

David feels being in Student Council requires responsibility and organization.

David does plan to use his Student Council skills in the future.

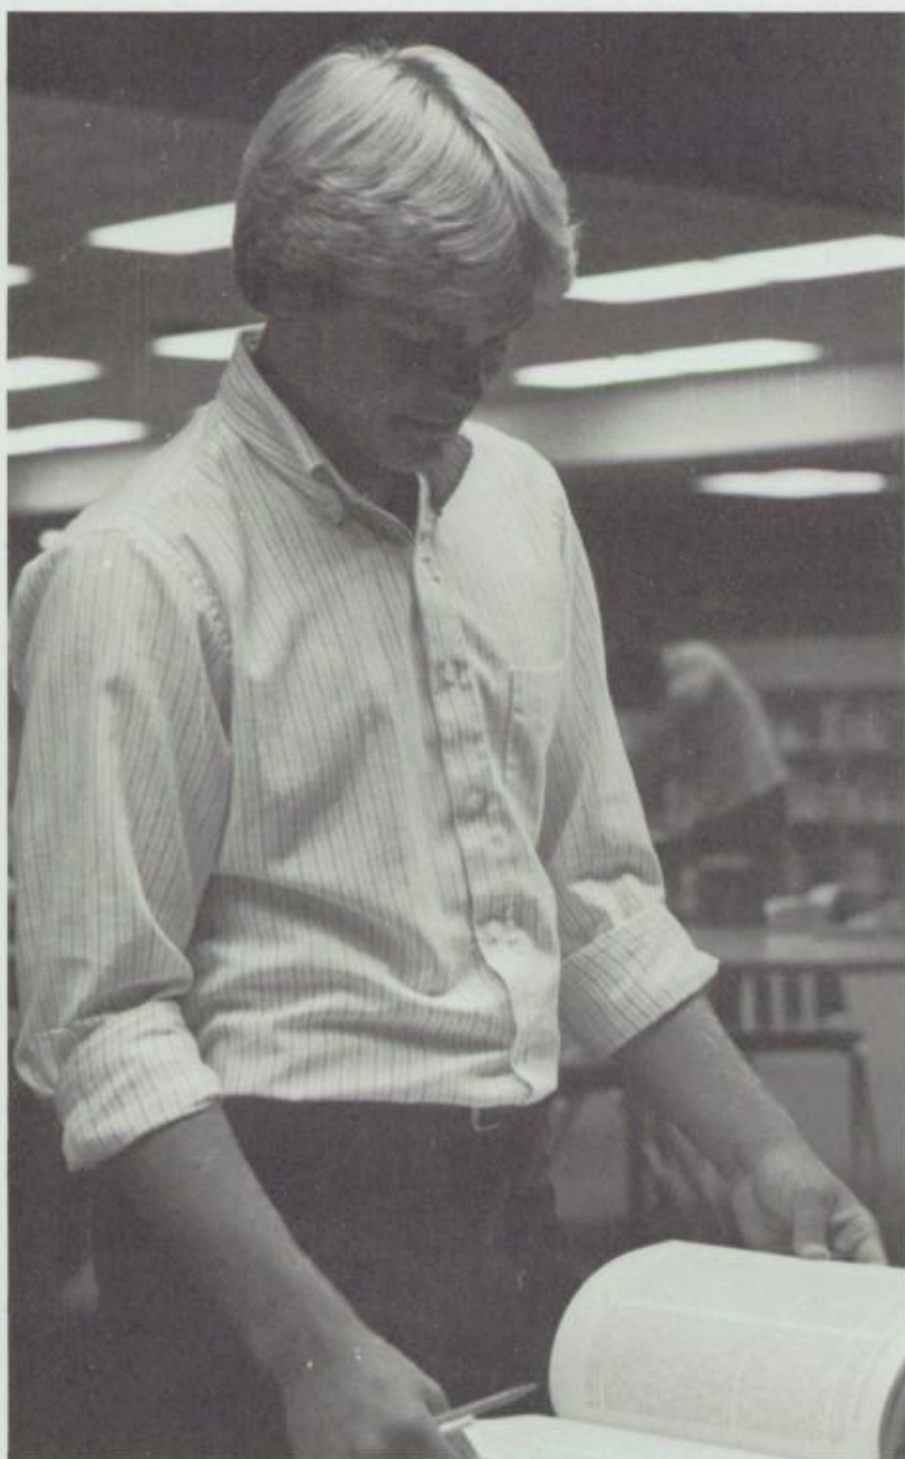

Byron Auguste was found to be the most outstanding student in the Social Studies Department.

Byron is a junior and finds European history most interesting. In the past he has taken Modern World History, AP European and this year AP American History.

In the future Byron plans a career in economics and law. But, for now, Byron is President of Student Council, on the speech team, in Spanish Honorary Society, Math Honorary Society, Science club, and is a Teen Gazette reporter. He also is on the Paradise Valley Education Advisory Council.

Byron feels that history is not fixed, there are no right or wrong answers. "In history your teacher might have an opinion, but you may have a different opinion. The answer isn't wrong if you can defend your point of view," he concluded.

Classes Offer Business Experience

The business field is a common choice as a future career among students at Horizon. The business program ranges from basic to more complex skills. Some students who have a high interest in business can take Typing 3-4, Calculators and Computers or Word Processing.

The course following Typing 1-2, which teaches basic typing skills, is Typing 3-4.

This class is designed for students who would like to improve their typing. Also during Typing 3-4, some computers are used for business purposes. Many students enrolled in these classes, have the knowledge of using typing in their future.

The Calculators and Computers class is almost self-explanatory in its title. This class is taken to get a basic understanding of a few business machines. The main reason for students enrolled is to make work easier by using machines. This is a prerequisite for the course Word Processing.

Today, many jobs are offered for office and clerical work. Word Processing is a major skill that is needed for business career. The class is very popular among students. Many of them are interested in computer programming and some technology. "Computers are our future," was the statement used for the reason students are enrolled.

Since business is a part of everyday life, many courses are designed to understand how businesses work and how to make it easier and more organized.

Seniors who are interested in knowing about job opportunities, pre-employment training and job placement may want to become involved in Jobs for Arizona Graduates (JAG). This class has been offered for four years in Arizona and two years at Horizon. It is taught by Mrs. Batko, who also runs the career center. She has a degree in psychology and she used to help high school drop-outs find jobs. This is why she enjoys teaching JAG.

If you have ever asked yourself these questions: What am I going to do after graduation? What type of work would I like to do? or What will I major in?, then you might look into taking this course as a senior.

Foods Class Provides Restaurant

Kristi Hauf has been enrolled in food courses since her seventh grade year in junior high. As an outstanding student in the Home Economics Department, she is enrolled in Gourmet Foods, where it seems like Kristi is running the class. All the students ask her for help and show respect for her knowledge of food preparation.

In her class, there are two crews. She is supervisor of one. These crews work together to operate a restaurant within the school. The restaurant is open twice a week and available to both lunch hours. Both students and faculty are welcome.

In her sophomore year, Kristi already has thought of her future. She would like to go to college with the hope of owning her own restaurant or becoming a professional chef.

Kristi enjoys skiing with her family. She also likes to play tennis.

Two students were chosen for the most outstanding in the industrial arts area. Mark Michalenko and Jenny Smith were the students to fill these positions.

Jenny Smith is a senior this year. She is enrolled in automotives and drafting. She enjoys auto labs and working on cars.

She is on the 1983-1984 pom line. Practices and games fill up the majority of her spare time. Jenny enjoys pom very much.

Kristi Hauf dries dishes.

Jenny and Mark study the car engine.

Rich Linder and Jeff Labriola listen to Mr. Vasquez's instructions.

In her future, she would like to attend Arizona State University or the Phoenix Institute of Technology. She has always wanted to be a fashion merchandizer, but she might go into industrial education.

Mark Michalenko is also a senior and has taken automotives and General Shop. He is very interested in industrial arts.

He enjoys water skiing, snow skiing and playing football. This year he was on the varsity football team.

In the future, he plans to go to the Phoenix Institute of Technology. He wants to be an offshore diesel mechanic or possibly go into architecture.

Fine Arts Filled With Talent

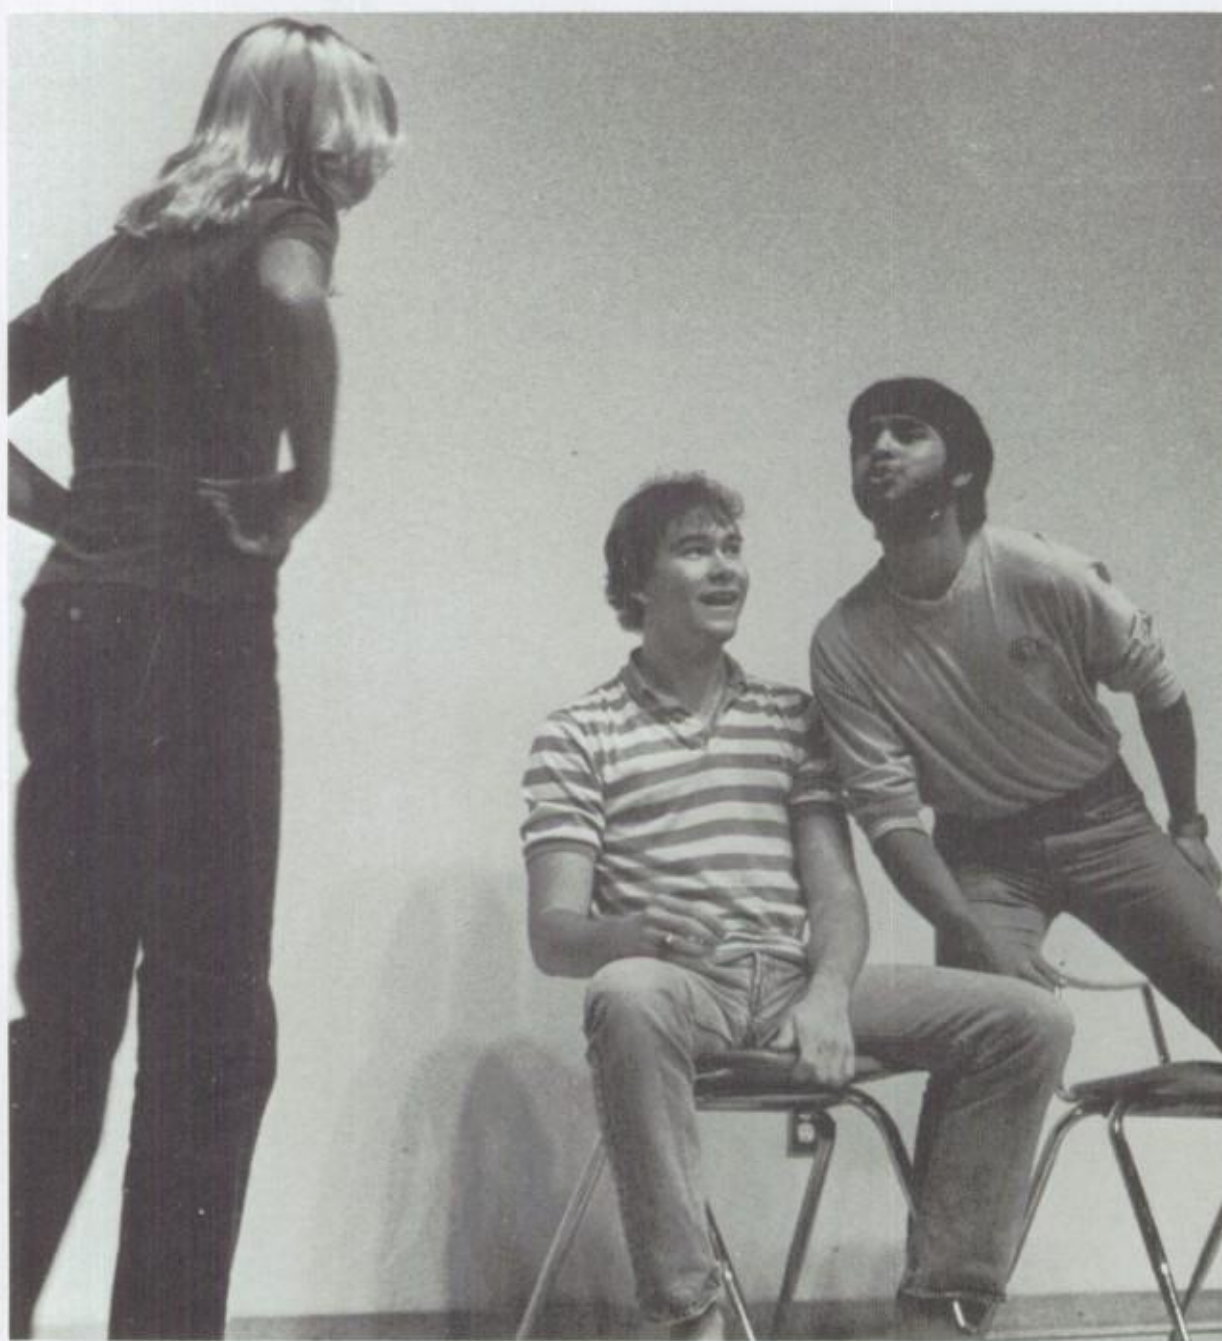

The Fine Arts Department is actually a much larger department than most realize. It consists of Photography, Ceramics, Lettering and Printmaking, Drawing, Painting, Band, Chorus, Drama, and Speech and Debate. It is made up of several buildings and seven dedicated teachers.

There are so many bright, talented, and giving students in the fine arts that it was difficult for the teachers in those areas to choose just a few, but Mike Birkett, Amy Schwelling, and Dan Carroll were finally selected as outstanding representatives of the arts department.

Mike Birkett is a junior who has been taking Photography for three years. His hobbies are photography and racquetball. He enjoys every type of photography and plans one day to be a free lance photographer. He also plans on continuing with his photography through college.

Mike is "artistic and deals with images well," says Ms. Leigh Bennett, who is his photography teacher. Mike and the other advance students will be doing advance methods of printing techniques this year and will be working with special films, super imposing, and multi-printing. The advance students will also learn to work with studio lighting and solarization.

Amy Schwelling is a very special student and the president in choir. Amy, a junior has been singing since second grade. She is an alto, but she can sing all the parts because of her versatile vocal chords and ability to sight read easily.

Anna Tobin, Chris Danowski, and Sonny Ahuja play out a scene.

Amy believes that choir has a great deal of talent, but could be improved with more people joining . . . especially guys. She enjoys choir because it performs during lunch hours, assemblies, and festivals throughout Arizona and, "it is a terrific learning experience. It teaches us how to get involved, share and blend with other people," she said.

Amy, who is currently involved with her church choir and student council, enjoys snow skiing and scuba diving as her hobbies. She plans to continue singing through her college years and try for a scholarship.

Amy is quoted as saying, "Our Fine Arts Department is practically new, but through the cooperation of all the students and faculty, Horizon will be known as one of the better fine arts high schools."

Dan Carroll, the captain of the speech team and an extremely talented student, is a senior. He has been taking speech for two and a half years. He enjoys running and swimming and is currently involved in Horizon's Young Democrats. He hopes one day to become the President of the United States.

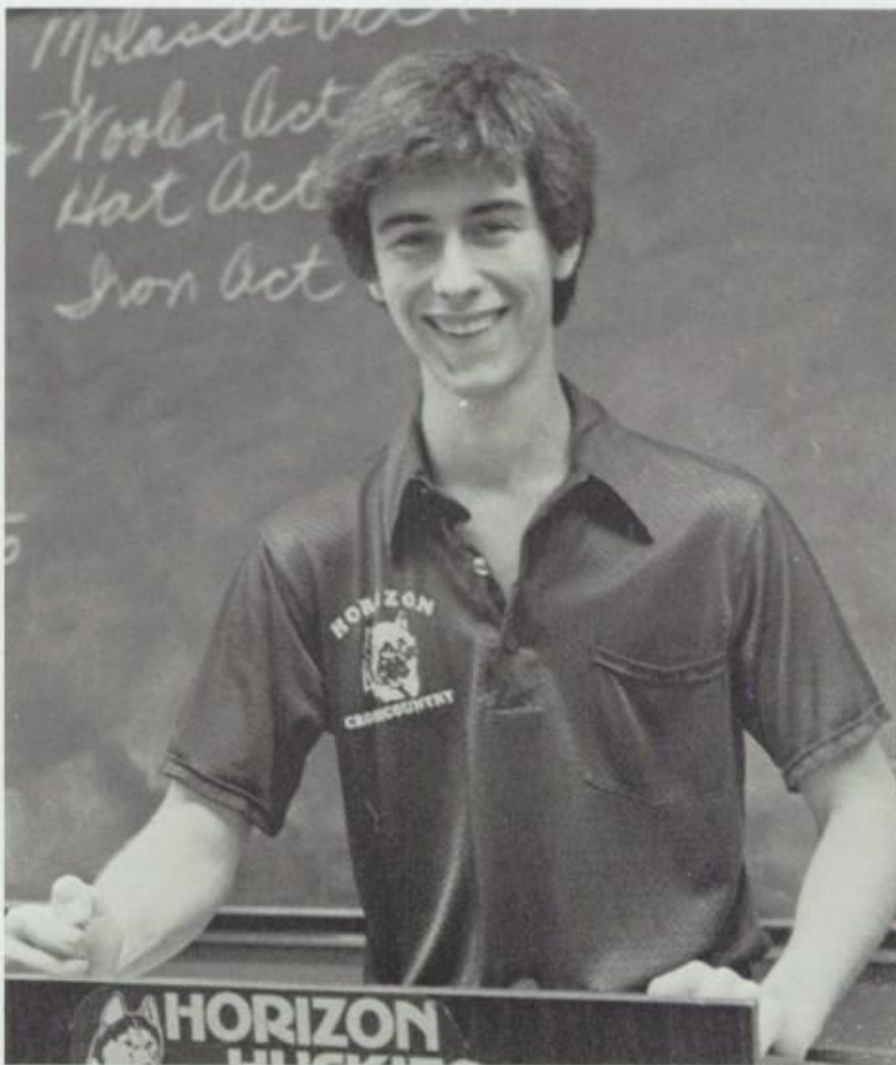

Dan is working with the debate team in hopes that one day it will be helpful when he debates with the governor, the Senators, and the President. He is also a member of the track team and is a member on S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk.)

Dan plans to continue his education and start his career by being a prosecuting attorney. He is excited about his future plans.

Dan says that half of this year's speech team are freshmen, but they show remarkable potential and he feels that by the time they become seniors, there will be no stopping them. Dan is proud to be involved with such an outstanding group of young talents.

PE Classes Build Up Endurance

Niki Cambell is the outstanding female senior athlete. She has two Physical Education classes: Advanced Physical education and Weight Training. She enjoys the classes and is very interested in bodybuilding. She admires bodybuilders because it takes much endurance and dedication to become a winner at the sport.

Steve Venable is the outstanding Male Senior Athlete. He has one Physical Education class and also participates in Basketball. Steve has played junior varsity basketball two years and varsity the other two years. He also enjoys raquetball, football, and baseball in his spare time. In college Steve will participate in sports, and he hopes to go to college in California to get a degree in Sports Medicine.

The special Education Department is designed to assist those students who have special needs. The team of teachers, aides, and psychologist work together to help students acquire their high school diploma. The academic program is individualized to meet each student's need and level. The monitor program watches progress or lack of progress in the regular classes, and assists when difficulties occur. The teachers work closely with parents to assure all are appraised of the student's situation.

Niki Campbell shows off her brute strength.

Student Aids Learn Office Skills

Self-reliant, hard working, and good attitudes can best describe Vori Esparza and Randy Shipley and Karen Caffarella. The office staff enjoys having them as aides in the counseling department and values their help, as they do of all of their aides.

Vori Esparza is a model of poise and maturity. She is articulate and enthusiastic. Vori came to the United States in 1978 and she lives with her sister and brother-in-law. She was born in Guadalajara, Mexico and still has family living there. Vori is a mid-term grad and is active in the Spanish Honorary Society.

Randy Shipley is a soft-spoken and affable. Anything that is asked of him is done efficiently, even to the point of getting Dr. Gleason's breakfast from the cafeteria. He is a good student and a native of Phoenix.

Karen Caffarella is a dependable, persevering, and a sweet, quiet girl. According to Pat Cahill, Horizon's registrar one word describes Karen best that is Super! Karen is determined and conscientious and is also a January, 1984 mid-term grad.

The outstanding aides in the attendance office are Junior Vanessa Gibberson and Sophomore Diane Sawczyn and Sophomore Steve Sherrill. The outstanding qualities of these aides are good attendance, pleasant personality, they handle their duties without question they are also trustworthy and they are courteous to the parents and to other students. These are the outstanding features of the students aides in the attendance and why they were chosen as outstanding by Mrs. Sherrick.

Vori Esparza assists by answering the phone.

Randy Shipley waits to greet the students with appointments to see the counselors.

Karen Caffarella works with the school computer.

Steve Sherrill helps with the daily attendance.

Vanessa Gibberson answers the phone in the attendance office.

Diana Sawczyn assists with the attendance cards.

Cafeteria Prepares Varied Foods

The cafeteria staff introduced new food items as well as the old. The new food items are featured as once a week specials, and the favorites are served everyday. Pizza and French fries were the favorites among the students.

As well as fixing lunches for our school, the cafeteria fixes lunches for six other schools in the district.

There are four student assistants that work in the cafeteria during fourth or fifth hour lunch for twenty minutes each day. The days the assistants work, they receive a free lunch worth ninety-five cents.

The custodians contributed to the upkeep of our school. Daily, the custodians come to do a deeper cleaning that cannot be done during school hours.

Ms. Williams prepares cheese for shredding.

Ms. Brodeur prices the snacks on the register.

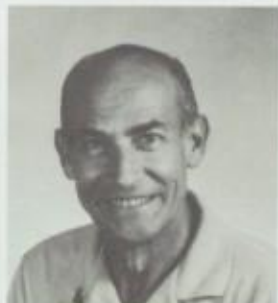

Mike Wistuber fills the cups quickly with ice.

Advertising

Makes Book Affordable

Advertising is an essential part of the Horizon Heritage. Without advertisements, students would have to pay over twenty percent more than what is actually charged. Layout and photographic supplies, along with the printing of the yearbook are the biggest expenses. The yearbook program is self-supporting, receiving no funding from the district or the school.

The job of obtaining advertising is placed upon the yearbook staff. To make the job easier, many advertisers are supporters from the preceding years. Also, personal ads were made available to students and parents to leave their friends and loved ones a special message. Thanks to all those who supported the yearbook. Seniors Look Ahead; Plan For the Future

The end of the school year marks a very exciting turning point for every student. Another year of school is swept into the past, and the Seniors come to that unimaginable and seemingly unreachable graduation. While the lower classmen are looking ahead to another year of high school, the Seniors are looking ahead, planning for their futures. Many of these futures begin with college. Instate colleges, such as Arizona State University, University of Arizona, Northern Arizona University, and local community colleges prove to be the most popular choices. The end of the year is also a time to reflect on the memorable events that have happened during this school year. A time to remember the friends that you have made and kept, and the fun you shared together. The football games, dances, parties, and high school crushes are just a small part of these memories.

Because each and every person in our school has the potential to go out and make a difference in this world of ours, it can be said . . . THE FUTURE BEGINS WITH US.

From The Desk Of The Editors'

To the Horizon Student Body,

Another year has gone by and many memories along with it. As the years go by, many of these memories will slip from your mind. This yearbook serves as a key to unlock your memory. It is our sincere wish that someday you will dig that dusty yearbook out of the box or shelf where you keep it and let the yearbook spark your memory to remind you of those magic moments of youth.

Many people are responsible for creating your yearbook. For all of the co-operation and time given, we would like to thank our staff, photographers, Herff Jones, and Tom Updike.

The one person who did the most in contributing help and advice, along with experience, was our advisor, Mrs. Donelson. She knew what she was doing and despite our many problems and mistakes, she helped us get through it all and finally complete the yearbook.

We appreciate how she put up with our constant bickering and disagreements. It couldn't have been done without her!

We would also like to thank Steve Harper for the wonderful cover design. It looks great!

The theme "It all Begins With Us." was selected after a discussion about traditions, the future, and the graduation of the "Last of the Originals." The concept is that those traditions and the future begin with everyone.

The students who are graduating this year were here in the very beginning to start the traditions. For those students who haven't been here that long, you still contribute to all that happens at Horizon and in your future. IT REALLY DOES BEGIN WITH US!

Sincerely,

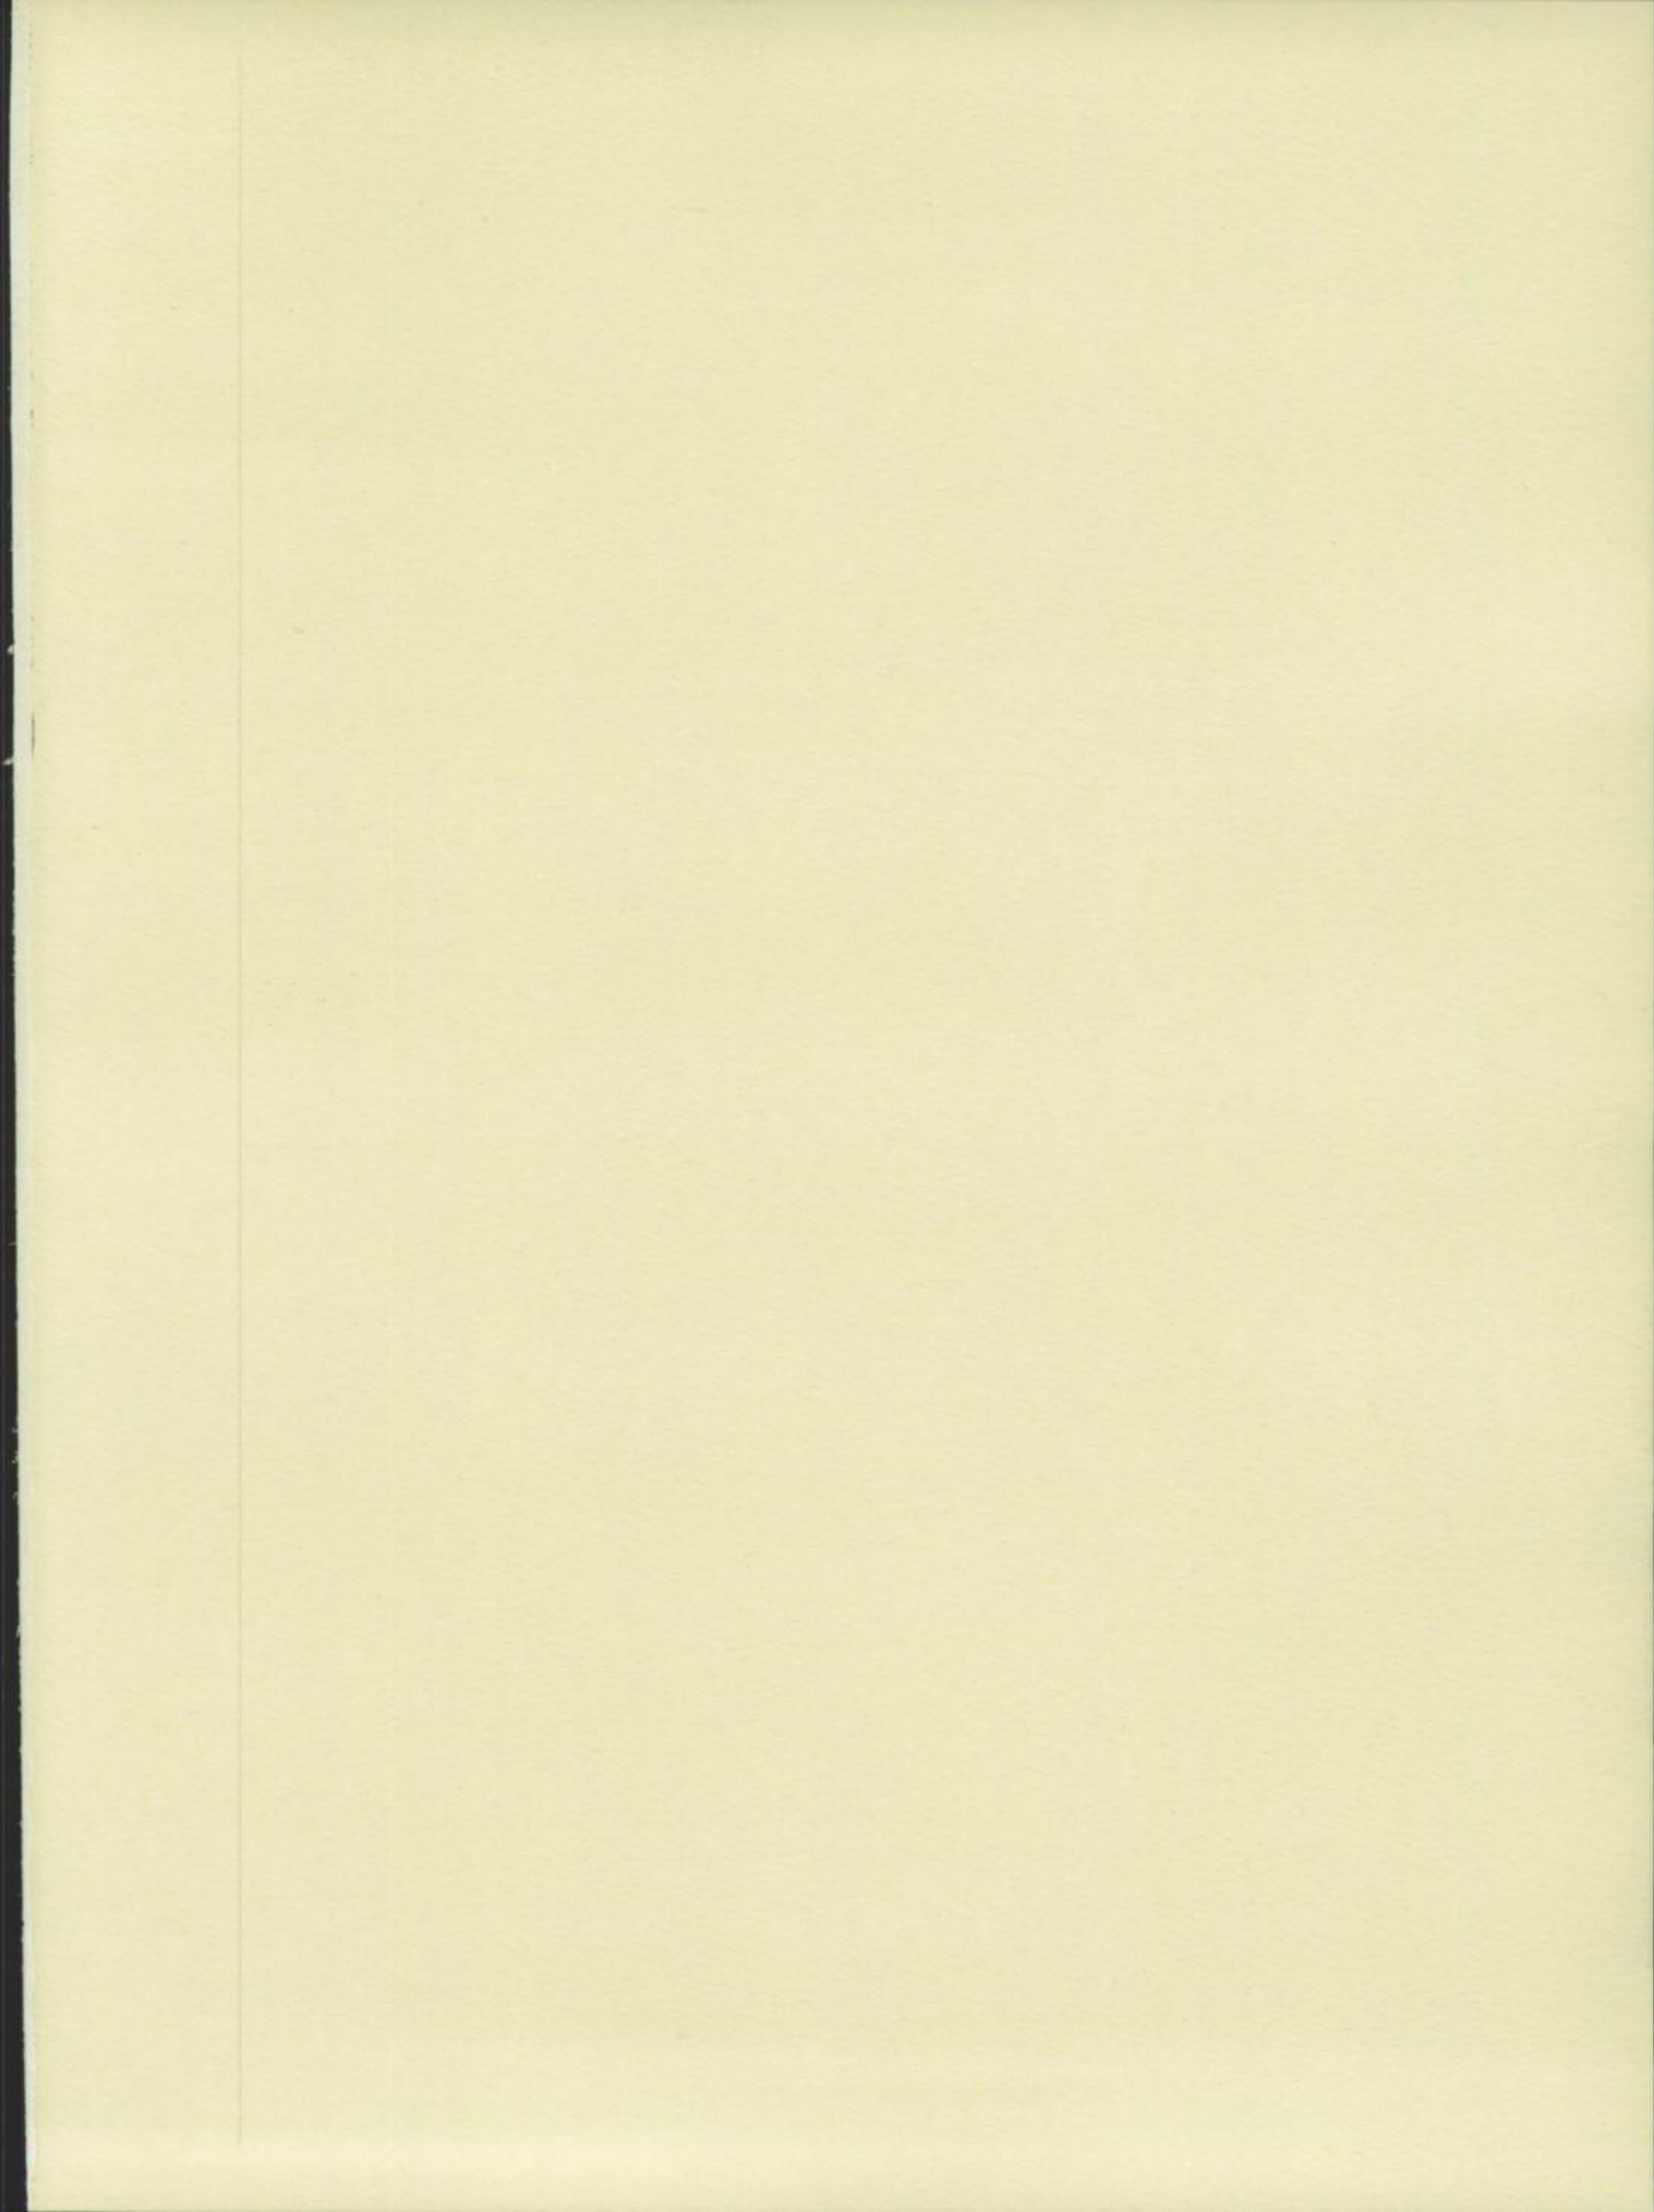

Valerie Kinsella
